Hancock chamber initiates mid-year membership drive

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce president Perry Gibson announced this week that the annual mid-year membership drive would begin with a kick-off breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Monday, July 14, at Scaffidi's Wheel-Inn Restaurant on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Gibson said that the yearly drive would consist of a week-long campaign by chamber members to solicit new memberships in the chamber. The drive will conclude at 5 p.m. Friday, July 18.

"The emphasis this year is not to just solicit new memberships," Gibson said, "but to stress to the people what the chamber can do for the total community."

Chamber manager Max Berns added that the purpose of a chamber is to promote group action on projects that will benefit the entire community.

"One person can do a lot, but he can't do it all," Berns said, "and that is the most important thing about the chamber. We can do as a group what an individual cannot do."

Fred Logan, vice president of the chamber, is serving as chairman of the membership drive. He is assisted by two chamber members, Edward Hall, publisher of the Sea Coast Echo, and P. D. "Sonny" Bailey, owner of Bailey Electric, who form a special committee to organize the campaign.

Five teams consisting of approximately seven or eight members have been formed to make the contacts with prospective members during the campaign week. The teams are headed by Gulf National Bank, Hancock Bank, Merchants' Bank, Coast Electric Association (assisted by Security Savings & Loan) and Mississippi Power Company (assisted by People's Federal Savings & Loan).

Following the membership drive both the team and the individual who signs up the greatest number of members will be recognized at a dinner for the team members.

"I feel that the chamber of commerce activities and their benefits, like liberty, are not self-perpetuated," said Berns. "They have to be analyzed and articulated from time to time. With this drive we want to take advantage of the excellent spirit in Hancock County and inform the people of the specific benefits available to members of the chamber."

The following are the names of chamber members who have been invited to participate on the membership teams as a representative sample of the Hancock chamber.

Team one, chaired by Bob Hamilton of Hancock Bank, consists of John Binegar of Binegar's Exxon, Mrs. Margaret Shadoin of Hancock Insurance, Bill Farrell of Riemann Funeral Home, James Travirca, Hancock beat five supervisor, Dick Thomas of Moore and Powell Certified Public Accountants and Miss Mary Perkins of the Sea Coast Echo.

Team two, chaired by Bill Breland of Merchants' Bank, consists of Don

Lack of support cited

Travirca delays repayment proposal

A proposal by county supervisor Jimmy Travirca for repayment of $675,000 Camille loan money without raising taxes countywide never came to a vote at Monday's board meeting because Travirca said he feared the proposal would not even get a second. Travirca said following the meeting he had made his proposal known to the other supervisors but decided to delay presentation until July 21 when he felt he could gain more support for his plan from other members of the board.

The board has been issued a warning by State Director of Budget and Accounting Francis Geoghegan that the loan will be declared in default if no plan for repayment is submitted before August 3 and the county forced to levy a two mill tax.

"I just didn't see any point in presenting the plan at today's meeting, if I could not get a second to it," Travirca said. "But I do think that we will be able to take some action on it at the next meeting July 21."

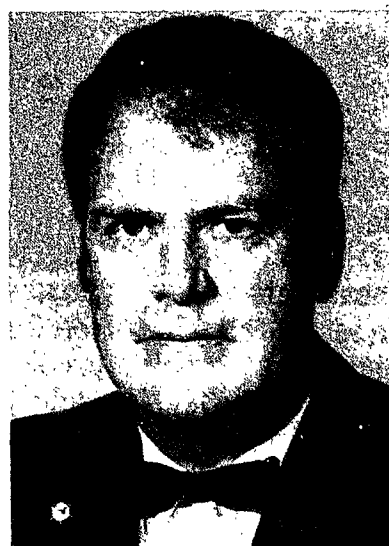

The proposal entails cuts in five departments in the budget amounting to two mills. Travirca also proposed that the Hancock County School Board be allowed to keep its $180,000 allocation from the Governor's Emergency Council fund, and that a one mill levy be placed on the outside areas of the two municipalities to repay this portion of the loan. Travirca's proposal is a compromise in the controversy over whether the schools should be allowed to keep the money and if city residents should be taxed for that portion of the loan.

"This is the fairest way I could think of to repay the loan," Travirca said. "The inside areas would be affected by the two mill cuts, and the outside areas would only be taxed one mill to repay the money given to the schools."

The five departments which would be cut have not yet been released. Travirca said each department would have to be studied before definite decisions on the cuts are made. Travirca also said that at the present

City accepts bids for fence, beach platform

Bay St. Louis city fathers accepted two bids Monday, the first for a fence around the city's vehicle storage area and the second for furnishing the city with materials for the construction of steps and a platform leading to the city's new pier at Ulman Ave. and the beach.

The council accepted a bid of $4,600 from Melvin Burge to install a heavy gauge metal fence around the vehicle storage area adjacent to the Valena C.

Jones Complex on Old Spanish Trail after experiencing recent acts of vandalism on city equipment.

City streets superintendent Felix Seeger reported to the council that damage done to the city equipment over the last months had cost the city far more in dollars than the cost of a fence.

The council also accepted a bid of $1,049.50 from W. A. McDonald & Sons. Please turn to page 12A

Groundbreaking to mark 41 years of real progress

By DAN BARBER

Forty one years ago, the Bay St. Louis city-county public library started with 200 books literally on the floor of a room donated by the Hancock Bank.

Sunday hundreds of people are expected to witness ground breaking ceremonies for a new quarter million dollar facility which will contain not less than 25,000 volumes.

Ceremonies will be conducted at 4:00 p.m. at the construction site on Highway 90 next to Crosby Furniture.

The new library, which will be located on a lot bordered on the south by Ulman Ave., the north by Highway 90 and the east by Crosby Furniture, is being financed through a matching 60-40 federal grant. Construction is expected to be completed in January, 1976.

The lot the library will sit on was purchased by the first library board of trustees for $17,000 and dedicated Dec. 1, 1967.

It's truly a dream come true for many. The original application for $100,000 filed April 3, 1967 with the Mississippi Library Commission was a long time coming. But when it did, the county was suddenly faced with a tremendous opportunity.

Word of a $204,000 grant was received in January, 1974. To meet the matching 60-40 grant, the county pledged a 1/2 mill to the library for a period of five years. This pledge was given in 1971. The city of Bay St. Louis pledged $25,000 and the city of Waveland, $4,000. Together the three entities matched the federal money.

The new facility will be a completely fireproof white stucco building, carpeted in the main reading areas, and featuring a separate meeting room with a seating capacity of 50-60 people open to community activities.

The library, which covers 10,500 square feet, is designed to accommodate local area needs for at least 10 years. Architect Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis, who designed the structure, said the facility was designed to utilize every square foot of space in the rather peculiarly shaped lot.

Bay police arrest burglary suspects

Bay St. Louis police arrested a 17-year old Bay St. Louis youth at 4:17 a.m. July 2 when he attempted to break into the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club on Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis.

Police chief Billy Carbonette said police answered a burglar alarm and apprehended the suspect when he was coming down the back steps of the yacht club with a public address system valued at $250. Carbonette said the youth also admitted to the burglary of The Grecian, owned by Ed Larroux. Stolen were eight rods and reels, a sleeping bag and other items valued at $300.

Police also arrested Bay St. Louis resident Mark A. Miller, 22, at 7 p.m. July 8 at Food Center on a charge of passing worthless checks and false pretense.

Miller allegedly wrote a check for $134.30 at A-1 Radio Center on Highway 90 earlier in the day and received a channel radio and antenna. The owner of the store reported that a telephone call revealed that Miller had no account in the bank under the account number on the check.

Bay police cautioned local merchants there is a possibility more checks are in the Gulf Coast area.

Bond for Miller has been set at $5,000. Arresting officers were D. Williams and E. Ellis.

Bay police are also investigating several thefts occurring this past week including a theft of $72 in cash and checks from California Concept on Highway 90.

The theft was reported by owner Betty Fleming, but Carbonette said no suspects had been arrested in the case.

A 1960 Chevrolet pickup truck was recovered by Bay police Monday on the left side of Highway 90 near Main St.

Carbonette said the owner of the truck had not been located at the present time, but he believed it had been stolen in Slidell. The ignition had apparently been hot-wired, the police chief said.

After careful appraisal of available information concerning marijuana (cannabis) and its components, and their derivatives, the following conclusions have been reached: Marijuana is a dangerous drug and as such is a public health concern, and legalization of marijuana would create a serious abuse problem in the United States.

Marijuana use creates problems for adults as well as adolescents. However, the adult should have maturity of judgement to accept responsibility for the consequences to himself and others. On the other hand, the youngsters welfare is our moral responsibility, and the guidance and help he requires, we are duty bound to provide.

Marijuana is universally recognized as a mind-altering drug and habitual use is particularly prevalent among individuals with marginal personalities. While persons should not be allowed to become involved with marijuana with impunity, legislators, law-enforcement officials, and the courts should differentiate in the handling of the occasional user, the frequent user, the chronic user, and the dealer who sells for a profit. Speaking of dealers, how often do you read or hear of a pusher being arrested locally, the law-enforcement people are busy arresting the youthful users, building up a "terrific narcotics arrest" record, while ignoring the pusher, the real culprit and felon. One does not need to be a narcotics agent, but just a plain ordinary deputy sheriff to know that you must arrest the pusher to stem the movement of marijuana and the other derivatives.

The flow of marijuana can be seriously curtailed by concentrating on the movements and eventual arrest of the pushers, the suppliers for the youthful users.

Respectfully,

SOLID BRASS COUPLING

Early budget request tendered; city street improvements planned

By DAN BARBER

Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver and Commissioners Clarence Ladner and Lucien Kidd received what may be their earliest budget request of the year Monday.

The council was petitioned to increase millage to the city-county library fund from 3/4 mills to one mill for the upcoming fiscal year which begins October 1 by city-county library board president Linda Haas.

Mrs. Haas accompanied by Mrs. Fred McDonald and Mrs. Prima Wusnack told the council the budget request was tendered early this year because of the previous year's oversight when the library board failed to submit a budget request.

Possibly as a result, the council trimmed the library fund budget from one mill to the present 3/4 mill for fiscal '74-'75. Later attempts to get the council to reinstate the 3/4 mill cut were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Haas told the council Monday that the board would appreciate anything that the council could do to restore the lost revenue.

"We really need this money," Mrs. Haas said. "As you know we had to approach the county supervisors for this $7,000 that was unexpectedly lost from our budget of the library would not have been able to purchase any new books this past year." Hancock supervisors approved a request to use revenue sharing funds for the book purchases.

Mrs. Haas said the library did not have a formal budget yet prepared for the '75-'76 fiscal year but offered a copy of the current fiscal budget as a guide of how funds were being spent.

The library was given a big boost recently in its plans to construct a new library for the county when supervisors accepted a bid from George P. Hopkins, Inc. of Gulfport for construction of the $259,800 building which is scheduled for completion in January of 1976.

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new library, which will be located on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis, will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. at the construction site. Architect for the building is Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Haas said the public, as well as members of the county board of supervisors, the Bay St. Louis City Council, the Waveland Board of Aldermen, and the state library commission, were invited to attend the ground breaking.

In other business Monday the council authorized Mayor Carver to instruct city engineers Burk and Associates, Inc. to proceed with preparation of specifications for street improvements on A and B Streets, Keller Street, and Harrison Court. The council said it intended to use approximately $40,000 in revenue sharing funds to pay for the improvements.

The streets, limits, surface and estimated construction costs are: "A" Street from Thomas Street to Boardman Ave., 20 feet wide asphalt and crushed gravel treatment, $2,521.

"B" Street from Leonhard Ave. to its termination approximately 120 feet south of Boardman Ave., 20 feet wide, asphalt and crushed gravel treatment, $2,014.

Keller Street from Old Spanish Trail northwest approximately 3,400 feet to its termination, 20 feet wide, asphalt and crushed gravel treatment over 8 inches compacted sand, clay, gravel mix, $22,576.

No cost estimates were available for Harrison Court at the present time.

In a separate matter, Mayor Carver said that he had responded to a letter from the Mississippi Department of Highways informing the city that Main Street had been approved under the Federal Aid Urban Systems Program. The letter from Assistant District Construction Engineer Joe Davis said, however, that a letter was necessary from the city stating that the street was a "non-major project." Carver said he had complied with the letter's request.

ASSESSOR EDUCATION - Participants of the assessing school conducted in Jackson recently by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and the State Tax Commission are, from the left, George E. Zumbro, deputy assessor-collector, Franklin County; Charlie Barr, instructor, Lisis, Ill.; and Joel R. Barr, tax assessor-collector, Pike County.

Local assessors attend program

Bay St. Louis finance commissioner Clarence Ladner and Hancock County tax assessor George Heitzmann were among 27 participants representing various Mississippi cities and counties in an assessing school conducted in Jackson recently.

The school, co-sponsored by the State Tax Commission and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, covered the topic "Fundamentals of Real Property Appraisal," a part of the International Association of Assessing Officers (IAAO) broad curriculum in assessing.

Factors such as constantly changing property values, land changing from rural to urban usage, and pending state and federal legislation underscore the need for assessors to have the latest information available to them.

Partial funding for the school was from grants from Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965, the Intergovernmental Personnel Act obtained through the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, and educational funds of the State Tax Commission.

OLG awards prizes to residents

Eleven local residents were named as prize winners at the Our Lady of the Gulf church fair July 5-6.

Mrs. Ezra Stechmann won the first prize of a boat and trailer. Other winners included Mrs. Lydia Favre, a hot water heater, Pat Cuculla, a 26 inch bicycle, Mrs. Rita McClantoc, a case of whiskey, Mrs. Harold J. Battalora, a barbecue grill, and Mrs. Louise Williams, a rod and reel.

Transistor radios were won by Mrs. E. Becker, Mrs. L. P. Weeks, M. M. Hamilton, Mrs. P. Caracci and Billy Hincks.

CHARLES H.
SUPERVISOR
HANCOCK COUNTY

As a concerned citizen of Hancock County, I, Charles H. Johnson, am seeking the position of Supervisor of Beat 2, Hancock County, Mississippi. For the few citizens who do not know me, I would like to submit a brief resume:

I was born in Waveland June 23, 1933, to Dolores Ladner, and the late Johnny Johnson. I attended Waveland Elementary School and graduated from Bay St. Louis High School in 1950. Like most every other youngster, upon graduation I had to move out of the area to seek employment. I joined the Sheet Metal Workers' Union in 1950 and attended the Delgado Trade School for metal work. Upon completion at Delgado I immediately became employed in the supervisory capacity with numerous construction projects throughout the New Orleans and Baton Rouge area. While employed in New Orleans, I met and married the former Gerald Mae Samrow of that city. We have two children, Charles Jr. and Cathy Ann.

In 1957, my family and I moved back to the Waveland area and I became employed with Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation until 1961. I held a job in the supervisory capacity most of the time. In late 1961, I began my own local contracting business which is considered one of the most successful in residential construction in our county. My family and I reside at 227 Nicholson Avenue in Waveland. My son, Charles Jr., has been employed with me for the past year and a half and is in a position to assume the majority of the responsibilities in the operation of my business, which enables me to better serve you as full-time supervisor.

I am a member of the Waveland Civic Association, St. Stanislaus Sideline Club, St. Clare Catholic Church and St. Clare Fair Committee, commissioned member of the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Board, Krewe of Triton Carnival organization, Shamrockers Inc., Pass Christian Isle Golf Club, where I also served a term on the Board of Directors, and the Diamondhead Yacht and Country Club. I would like to emphasize that I am not a member of these clubs for the sake of claiming membership, but have worked diligently on all of these organizations' projects. I am also a former Parade Marshall of the Krewe of Nereids carnival organization, and have worked untiringly since their inception to promote the interest and growth of Nereids.

I am basically a newcomer to the political scene. In March of 1974 the post of alderman for Ward I of the City of Waveland was vacated due to the fact that John Longo, who had held this office for many years, had been elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor Garfield Ladner (who so honorably served Waveland for 32 years). I was elected to the aldermanic post over one opponent. My opponent and I at that time ran a very clean race, based on our morals, integrity, and ability to serve. That term of office expired in November of '74. At that time I sought reelection and I was unopposed. After the Mayor and Board took their oaths of office for the following four years, the appointments were made for all the necessary posts. I was nominated and unanimously approved by the other aldermen to the position of Mayor Pro Tem, which I presently hold.

I strongly invite you to check with your neighbors and friends in regards to my character and ability to be your supervisor for the next four years. I pledge to you if elected my impartial service to all of the taxpayers of Beat 2.

PLATFORM:

1. I will work to bring harmony and unity to the supervisors' office once more.
2. I will cooperate with the Farm Bureau to improve the conditions and lives of all our farmers who are the backbone of our nation.
3. I will maintain the sand beach in order to attract tourists and to better protect the Coast from hurricane waters.
4. I will also work with the necessary agencies to obtain more and better hurricane protection.
5. I will continually maintain and strive for more hard-surfaced roads throughout Beat 2.
6. I will strive at all times to improve and upgrade the political image of Hancock County.

I SINCERELY SOLICIT YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT.

Respectfully Submitted by Charles H. Johnson

Council approval expected on 1975-76 municipal school budget

Officials of Bay St. Louis and Waveland indicated Wednesday that there would probably be no problem this year in approving the $1,543,637 budget for the municipal schools for 1975-76.

Waveland Mayor John Longo along with Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver and city commissioners Clarence Ladner and Lucien Kidd were presented with copies of the proposed budget at the Tuesday night meeting of the Bay-Waveland school board.

"I don't foresee any problem at the present time in approving the budget as presented," said Carver. "I am now in the process of making a more detailed study of the budget, but I do not think there will be any problem in getting it approved."

The new budget shows a decrease in the amount of ad valorem taxes required from the two cities from last year's figure of $523,806 to $456,078, the difference to be made up by additional state funds according to superintendent J. D. McCulloch.

The Bay St. Louis City Council has scheduled a meeting Friday morning for consideration of the budget. Longo said he will attend the meeting and participate in the discussion.

"I was basically very pleased with the proposed budget," Longo said Wednesday. "It looked like the schools had a good year. Of course, I naturally hoped for a lower millage, but I can see their problem, and I am just happy that we were able to work within the budget this year."

McCulloch explained to the city officials at Tuesday's meeting that although the total budget is an increase of $151,855 over last year's budget, the increase is mainly due to a 20 percent raise in teacher's salaries which is paid entirely by the state and will not raise taxes in the local district.

He also indicated that the school budget for 1974-75 has shown a surplus of approximately $12,000. All of the figures for the past year are not in, however, so exact figures on the balance are not available, the superintendent said. McCulloch said a balance of $21,916 still owed by the two cities in ad valorem taxes will be added to this figure as overrun.

The 1975-76 budget shows a total of $7,135 which will be received by the schools in federal monies consisting of grants from the title one, two, three and six programs and the manpower program.

McCulloch said, however, that federal money under public law 815 has decreased from an original figure of over $80,000 several years ago to only 10,075 this year.

Included in the budget this year under site improvement are additions to the Waveland Elementary Playground at a cost of approximately $15,000 and paving of all parking areas around the four schools.

Pass Council approves Camille repayment

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss. - The Pass Christian City Council at their last meeting authorized immediate payment of the city's $630,000 Camille loan.

Interest paid along with the principal totaled $31,500 on the loan received from the Governor's Emergency Council following Hurricane Camille in 1969.

In other business, the council approved the new school budget of $1.4 million. The school board requested the maximum 25 mills levy for current operations.

The city was requested to borrow $40,000 on behalf of the district for repairs, building additions, transportation and to approve a special three mill levy to cover the notes. The council gave both requests approval and millage will be finalized at a later date.

Alderman Horace Nicaise, Jr. made a motion requesting an increase in harbor wall leases from $2 to $3 per foot annually effective Jan. 1, 1976.

Four Aldermen voted for the increase while Alderman Charles Logan and Mayor Steve Saucier opposed it.

CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISOR, BEAT 5

In 1972, when the present Board of Supervisors took office, they had $393,334.82 in the Government Emergency Council Funds. The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County has spent all that money except $180,000.00 now held by the Hancock County School Board.

I challenge the present Beat 5 Supervisor to tell you where and how that money was spent and in what way it benefited you that the Board of Supervisors could be justified in putting a two mill tax on you for 30 years as they now must do in order to repay this money.

This money should not have been spent. They had adequate funds, other than this money, if you had received a Dollar Value for every Tax Dollar (YOUR MONEY) spent.

Vote Cornelius J. Ladner, a man who will give you a Dollar Value for every Tax Dollar spent.

RE-ELECT GEORGE E. HEITZMANN

TAX ASSESSOR-TAX COLLECTOR

HANCOCK COUNTY

Please accept this as a SPECIAL THANKS for the wonderful reception you have given me during this campaign. Due to the heavy duties of the Tax Assessor-Tax Collector's Office at this time of the year it will not be possible to contact each of you personally and I employ this means of soliciting your continued support and vote in the Democratic Primary on August 5th.

I am a native of Bay St. Louis and am 59 years of age. Married to the former Margaret Dubuisson and we have three children: Marilyn, who is married to Major Thomas Ruckman of the Strategic Air Command; Robert who is employed by Global Associates at the National Space Technology Laboratories, and Michael who is with the Dupont Corporation in Houston.

Have had specialized training through University of Mississippi Extension Service and State Tax Commission in real estate appraising and as an Assessing Officer.

A member of International Assessors-Appraisers Association with membership attained by qualified courses.

Licensed Appraiser by the State and certified by the Veterans Administration.

Served as Vice-President for three years and as President of the Mississippi Assessor's Association and a member of the Executive Board for 15 years. A FIRST FOR HANCOCK COUNTY.

Served as Chairman of State Convention of Assessors and Collectors. ANOTHER FIRST FOR HANCOCK COUNTY.

Served four years on State Legislative Committee of Assessors' Association. ANOTHER FIRST FOR HANCOCK COUNTY. Active in all branches of the State Tax Commission.

A past President of the Hancock County Blood Bank.

As a member of the Assessor Legislative Committee assisted in promoting the FREE AD VALOREM PROPERTY TAX for our Senior Citizens and Disabled Veterans passed as Senate Bill No. 2566 and now being implemented.

A personal effort has been made to professionalize the Assessor and Collector's office. Your Tax Assessor-Tax Collector's office is the most important office in County Government because this office "formulates" and "provides" the revenue to finance the expenses of the entire County.

My deputies are all qualified by education, training and experience. I wish to express special thanks to them and all of my previous deputies for their dedication as Public Servants.

You are invited to check my records with the State Tax Commission, State Audit Department and the Motor Vehicle Comptroller in Jackson. I wish to congratulate all of the young voters who are expressing a desire to participate in our Government by their registration. I also desire to express my sincere thanks to our Senior Citizens for the privilege of meeting with them frequently throughout the County and for their keen interest in the operation of the office of Tax Assessor-Collector.

Since many new residents have come into our County in recent months, I feel I should employ this means as a formal welcome and introduction, particularly to those whom I have not yet had the privilege and pleasure of meeting.

I hope that you will seriously consider my qualifications and give me your vote and continued support on August 5th. YOUR VOTE WILL BE REWARDED WITH FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

The transition from Spring to Summer—or from frontier town to metropolis—comes about so unnoticeably that one has gone and the other has arrived before you can detect the difference. The new year of 1850, for instance, was in full swing probably before the folks in Jackson, Mississippi, had settled down after their Christmas celebrations.

They were soon face to face, however, with the hard facts of life. The mayor informed them that the city was in debt; then the aldermen raised the real estate taxes and added personal property levies and poll taxes. By 1860 the real estate tax had been raised to fifty cents, horses were taxed $1, a barouche was $5, and each piano was $2.50. Each white male from eighteen to fifty paid a poll tax of $5 and slaves were taxed from 50 cents to $5, according to age. The good old sales tax, so well known today, appeared in the stores at 2-16 of one percent on the amount of merchandise sold.

Finally, the city's local ordinances included $2 for flying kites in the street and throwing fireworks, $5 for operating a business on Sunday, for riding faster than a trot in the city and for holding an auction on a paved sidewalk. More serious offenses were giving a false alarm of fire ($15) and selling liquor to slaves ($20).

One of the most serious problems facing Jackson in its last ante-bellum period was a series of yellow fever epidemics, then believed to have been brought from New Orleans via Vicksburg. The yellow jack became serious in 1852 and raged in '53, '54 and especially in 1855. In 1855 and 1860 there were also plagues of scarlet fever in which many people died.

Other cities in the State were sharing with Jackson its expansion and prosperity, although the Capitol City had the jump on the others—because of the large amount of legal business transacted in its courts. Twenty-six attorneys had their offices near the Capitol and there were frequent legal conventions which drew lawyers' attendance from all parts of the State.

And then came—War! Grant's bluecoats took the city in '62, and all economic progress stopped abruptly. Prosperity gave way to stringency in everything, even food. Within a few months most of Jackson's forty stores had closed their doors. The once-lively, thriving city became overnight a town of whispers.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

"Historic Architecture in Mississippi" by Mary Wallace Crocker is receiving a warm welcome through the Magnolia and Mockingbird State. Four years of preparation went into research, photography, and travel in quest of building that may be referred to as "historic" throughout our state.

When is a building historically important? How many buildings throughout Mississippi are included in this category? And which, if any, of our Gulf Coast buildings did the author include?

To begin with, in order to "rate," a notable person either occupied or is associated with the house; or an important event is related to the structure, or the building is historically significant because of its design, or the building is recognized for its construction.

Every detail for perfection went into producing "Historic Architecture in Mississippi." The book measures an impressive 9" x 12", is printed on heavy grade enamel-finish paper, has some 300 clear and beautifully photographed illustrations, is divided into five parts for easy geographic reference, and the appendix lists buildings, home owners and addresses!

Our own immediate area is well represented with Biloxi's eight proud listings, four in Ocean Springs, two in Gautier, and three in Pascagoula. It would be an interesting family bicentennial project to use this informative book as a guide for visiting many of these buildings as time and budget permits during this bicentennial year. A hobby that would delight all ages and include summer visitors!

Further the book is truly a Mississippi product, i.e. "Of, by and for" Mississippi! It was printed in Jackson by the University and College Press of Mississippi. And the author, Mary Wallace Crocker, a native of Dublin, Mississippi, is an associate professor of housing and home furnishings at Mississippi State College for Women in Columbus, Mississippi. She received her B.S.E. degree from Delta State College, her M.A. from the University of Mississippi (she also holds a Ph.D.).

Many architectural treasures exist throughout Mississippi, and influences in building designs include climate, geographical location, native materials, background of the owner, cultural influences including France, Spain, England. There were even political and socio-economic influences in early Mississippi history. Names of architects are mentioned, materials imported are discussed.

It is said there is no such thing as a "perfect spot for the telephone," or even a faultless book. While admittedly the author did careful research on historical background of the building included and discussed owners, design, decorative motifs, social milieu, etc., the book is really a challenge for our locality. Are there, perchance, in Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Pearl River or other places near and dear to us buildings that would qualify and should be included in the next printing of "Historic Architecture in Mississippi?"

County Agent's Notes

CALFHOOD VACCINATION

All heifer calves born from January through April of this year should be vaccinated for brucellosis now. Recommended times to vaccinate are for dairy calves from three to six months of age and for beef calves from three to eight months.

The calfhood vaccination program can only be successful if every cattle owner vaccinates. Be sure to have your calves vaccinated and talk to your neighbors about having their animals vaccinated.

The vaccination is free. State and federal funds are financing the program in an effort to stamp out brucellosis or Bang's disease. The Mississippi goal this year is to have 300,000 heifers vaccinated this year.

PASTURE MANAGEMENT
You can increase the carrying capacity of your pastures by at least 30 percent by rotational grazing. The pasture should be heavily stocked—at least three head to the acre to insure even grazing. When the area is grazed down, usually 10 to 14 days, cattle should be moved to another area. After cattle have been moved, it is a good idea to pull a harrow or some other device through the pasture to spread manure piles. This will help provide the needed fertilizer for regrowth.

Don't wait too long to begin grazing sorghum-sudan type grasses. Begin grazing when the grass is 15 to 20 inches high. Cut for hay when it is 20 to 35 inches high. You get more tonnage when you let the grass get tall but you lose quality. Management to prevent seedhead formation will result in higher quality hay and grazing.

LIME TIME

You can get your pastures limed now without worrying about trucks bogging down. It is also a slack season for lime vendors. Liming now will make more lime trucks available for liming row cropland in the fall after harvest.

Areas to be fallowed for winter grazing should have lime applied before or between diskings.

Watch out for the little guy!

Washington Report

STAYING IN TOUCH

If an elected official ever wants to know how his constituents feel about something, all he needs to do is stay in touch and listen.

In the last three weeks, I've visited with constituents in Waynesboro, Long Beach, Purvis, Biloxi, Gulfport and Pascagoula. I even ran into people from the Fifth Congressional District at statewide conventions in Meridian and Tupelo. Along the way, I talked with everyone from the Ingalls Management Association at Pascagoula to senior citizens at Waynesboro and veterans groups at Biloxi. I tried to do as much listening as talking.

Irrefutably, right at the top of the list of constituent concerns is Social Security. Now there's a problem that touches the lives of everyone from welders to senior citizens.

While I introduced a Social Security reform bill earlier this year, I think it is becoming more and more obvious that a major overhaul of the Social Security System is the only answer. My bill would make a dent in the system, but what we need now is more than just a dent.

As I see it, we have several alternatives: (1) we could increase the present high Social Security tax rate; (2) we could further increase the taxable income base; (3) we could cut back benefits; (4) we could use general funds from the Treasury; or (5) we could create a new system to replace Social Security.

Obviously, some of these alternatives are completely out of the question. A new system, however, one that would take advantage of the new Pension Benefit Guarantee Corporation, is beginning to appeal to me.

Basically, this approach would terminate the Social Security tax and require employers to grant their workers a pay increase equal to the amount of the employer's Social Security tax liability. Then, every worker would be required to save 10 percent of his earnings in either government retirement bonds or in a PBGC-supervised private pension program.

It's just an idea at this stage, but I think it deserves serious consideration as we try to correct the glaring flaws in our present Social Security System.

One of the groups I always enjoy meeting with is the veterans. They're concerned about the need for a compensation increase, which is now in the Congress, and they're very adamant about returning Veterans Day to its original November 11 date, which is also in the Congress at this time.

I think the veterans were pleased to see VA Administrator Richard Roudsbush last week at the Biloxi-Gulfport VA Center. Administrator Roudsbush was very impressed with his visit and I'm hopeful that he will continue to respond to the needs of that very important VA Center.

Finally, on my last visit I had the opportunity to look at the new Gulf Coast Transportation Authority buses, which are running on regular scheduled up and down the Coast. I was very pleased to see the Transportation Authority working to help relieve one of the very serious problems in South Mississippi—transportation.

If we could only get I-10 finished, we would really be in business.

After all, I've enjoyed my recent trips to the district. Those kind of give-and-take sessions are what representative government is all about.

Ask the VA

Q—I'm a 66-year-old veteran unable to work. Can I qualify for a disability pension from the Veterans Administration?

A—Probably. Laws governing VA pensions consider veterans 65 years old and older totally disabled and eligible for pension if they fall within income limitations. Suggest you contact the agency.

Q—I was discharged recently from military service and I plan to go to school under the GI Bill. How long will I have to complete my schooling?

A—Under a recent law (PL 93-337, July 10, 1974) veterans are allowed 10 instead of eight years from date of separation to finish schooling.

Q—My husband was drawing compensation from the Veterans Administration for a 30 percent disability when he died. Am I eligible for the agency's health care program, CHAMPVA?

A—If your husband died as a result of his service-connected disability and you're not eligible for the military's CHAMPUS program or medicare, you may be eligible for CHAMPVA. Check with the nearest VA hospital or clinic.

Q—When is the deadline for veterans to apply for medical treatment at Veterans Administration hospitals?

A—There is no deadline, but priority is given to veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Q—I lost my World War II National Service Life Insurance policy. How can I obtain a copy?

A—Request a copy from the Veterans Administration Insurance Center where you pay your premiums, either in Philadelphia or St. Paul, Minn. If you had a paid-up policy, direct your request to the VA Insurance Center in Philadelphia.

Q—I plan to move next month. How can I make sure the Veterans Administration sends my pension check to my new address?

A—Notify the VA regional office where your records are filed, giving your claim number and your old and new address. You also should notify your post office, but not the Treasury Department.

H.E.W. News

Social security monthly benefits will be increased by eight percent starting with the check due in early July according to Charles E. Wofford, district manager of the Gulfport office. He emphasized that the checks should be received on the regular date and will include the increased amounts for each person who is getting a check.

Mr. Wofford said those individuals who are receiving Supplemental Security Income payments will also receive the eight percent. These checks will be delivered on July 1 or shortly thereafter.

Social Security

A new movie about Medicare is available for programs of senior-citizens groups, civic clubs, and other organizations, according to Charles E. Wofford, manager of the Gulfport social security office.

The 29 minute-color film is called "Medicare: how it helps you." It explains how Medicare hospital and medical insurance work, and it spells out in some detail what Medicare does and does not cover," Wofford said.

Organizations can arrange to have the film shown by social security representatives, who will also answer and discuss questions about Medicare. It was produced by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Arrangements for showing "Medicare: how it helps you" to a group or organization can be made by calling or writing the Gulfport social security office at 02015 Pass Road. The phone number is 1-896-1324.

Medicare helps pay the health care bills of people 65 and over, of disabled people who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and of many people with chronic kidney disease.

People planning to retire soon can estimate the amount of their monthly social security check with a free leaflet available at any social security office.

The leaflet—Estimating your social security retirement check—explains how much work people need to be eligible for social security benefits and shows them how to figure the approximate amount of the monthly retirement payments to them and their families.

Single copies of the leaflet are free on request at any social security office. The Gulfport social security office is at 02015 Pass Road. The phone number is 1-896-1324. The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF DISTRICT 1, HANCOCK COUNTY

We, the citizens of Pearlington, Ansley, Springwood Park, Bayside Park, all citizens and voters of District 1 in Hancock County have seen the ad of our supervisor, Jerry Ladner paving South Street in Waveland which we are proud for the citizens of that area. We have been in the mud for the last 3 1/2 years and have appeared before the supervisors many times asking for drainage and road repairs for our area. The only help we received was from the supervisors of Beats 2, 3, 4 and 5. Our supervisor refused to do anything at all until lately.

We are now asking in behalf of the citizens of the four communities above for some help from all the supervisors as before.

Above are several pictures made May 25, 1975 from the Springwood Park and Herron Bay Estates area. On occasions as pictures show, we often had to park our car and walk or return to homes we have in other areas.

In the Pearlington area the grass has not been cut along the road, the ditches have not been cleaned or opened in many areas, causing stagnant water to stand, creating a bad odor from sewers and breeding of mosquitoes as well as damaging the road by causing soft spots and pot holes deep enough for a vehicle to drag bottom.

We now see some work being done but we don't understand hard-surfacing in front of some homes and then passing others - this looks like an old political gag, waiting to start different jobs three or four months before election. Then we get back in the same old rut for another four years of weeds, stinking water and muddy roads as we now have. (See pictures below)

County school bus. . .

A Hancock County school bus became badly mired Thursday morning in deep mud and water at the intersection of West Benton and West Harrison roads in the Bayside Park subdivision as it was transporting students from the first to the 12th grades to classes. Driver of the vehicle was Mrs.

Shirley Shubert, described by one parent as "an excellent driver—she would have bogged down long ago if she weren't so good." The uninjured school children transferred to another bus to get to school.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

The transition from Spring to Summer—or from frontier town to metropolis—comes about so unnoticeably that one has gone and the other has arrived before you can detect the difference. The new year of 1850, for instance, was in full swing probably before the folks in Jackson, Mississippi, had settled down after their Christmas celebrations.

They were soon face to face, however, with the hard facts of life. The mayor informed them that the city was in debt; then the aldermen raised the real estate taxes and added personal property levies and poll taxes. By 1860 the real estate tax had been raised to fifty cents, horses were taxed $1, a barouche was $5, and each piano was $2.50. Each white male from eighteen to fifty paid a poll tax of $5 and slaves were taxed from 50 cents to $5, according to age. The good old sales tax, so well known today, appeared in the stores at 2-16 of one percent on the amount of merchandise sold.

Fines for violating local ordinances included $2 for flying kites in the street and throwing fireworks, $5 for operating a business on Sunday, for riding faster than a trot in the city and for holding an auction on a paved sidewalk. More serious offenses were giving a false alarm of fire ($15) and selling liquor to slaves ($20).

One of the most serious problems facing Jackson in its last ante-bellum period was a series of yellow fever epidemics, then believed to have been brought from New Orleans via Vicksburg. The yellow jack became serious in 1852 and raged in '53, '54 and especially in 1855. In 1855 and 1860 there were also plagues of scarlet fever in which many people died.

Other cities in the State were sharing with Jackson its expansion and prosperity, although the Capitol City had the jump on the others - because of the large amount of legal business transacted in its courts. Twenty-six attorneys had their offices near the Capitol and there were frequent legal conventions which drew lawyers' attendance from all parts of the State.

And then came - War! Grant's bluecoats took the city in '62, and all economic progress stopped abruptly. Prosperity gave way to stringency, in everything, even food. Within a few months most of Jackson's forty stores had closed their doors. The once-lively, thriving city became overnight a town of whispers.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

"Historic Architecture in Mississippi" by Mary Wallace Crocker is receiving a warm welcome through our Magnolia and Mockingbird State. Four years of preparation went into research, photography, and travel in quest of building that may be referred to as "historic" throughout our state.

When is a building historically important? How many buildings throughout Mississippi are included in this category? And which, if any, of our Gulf Coast buildings did the author include?

To begin with, in order to "rate" a notable person either occupied or is associated with the house; or an important event is related to the structure, or the building is historically significant because of its design, or the building is recognized for its construction.

Every detail for perfection went into producing "Historic Architecture in Mississippi." The book measures an impressive 9" x 12", is printed on heavy grade enamel-finish paper, has some 300 clear and beautifully photographed illustrations, is divided into five parts for easy geographic reference, and the appendix lists buildings, home owners and addresses!

Our own immediate area is well represented with Biloxi's eight proud listings, four in Ocean Springs, two in Gautier, and three in Pascagoula. It would be an interesting family bicentennial project to use this informative book as a guide for visiting many of these buildings as time and budget permits during this bicentennial year. A hobby that should delight all ages and include summer visitors!

Further the book is truly a Mississippi product, i.e. "Of, by and for" Mississippi! It was printed in Jackson by the University and College Press of Mississippi. And the author, Mary Wallace Crocker, a native of Dublin, Mississippi, is an associate professor of housing and home furnishings at Mississippi State College for Women in Columbus, Mississippi. She received her B.S.E. degree from Delta State College, her M.A. from the University of Mississippi (she also holds a PhD).

Many architectural treasures exist throughout Mississippi, and influences in building designs include climate, geographical location, native materials, background of the owner, cultural influences including France, Spain, England. There were even political and socio-economic influences in early Mississippi history. Names of architects are mentioned, materials imported are discussed.

It is said there is no such thing as a "perfect spot for the telephone," or even a flawless book. While admittedly the author did careful research on historical background of the building included and discussed owners, design, decorative motifs, social milieu, etc., the book is really a challenge for our locality. Are there, perchance, in Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Pearlinton or other places near and dear to us buildings that would qualify and should be included in the next printing of "Historic Architecture in Mississippi?"

LIME TIME

You can get your pastures limed now without worrying about trucks bogging down. It is also a slack season for lime vendors. Liming now will make more lime trucks available for liming row cropland in the fall after harvest.

Areas to be fallowed for winter grazing should have lime applied before or between diskings.

County Agent's Notes

CALFHOOD VACCINATION

All heifer calves born from January through April of this year should be vaccinated for brucellosis now. Recommended times to vaccinate are for dairy calves from three to six months of age and for beef calves from three to eight months.

The calfhood vaccination program can only be successful if every cattle owner vaccinates. Be sure to have your calves vaccinated and talk to your neighbors about having their animals vaccinated.

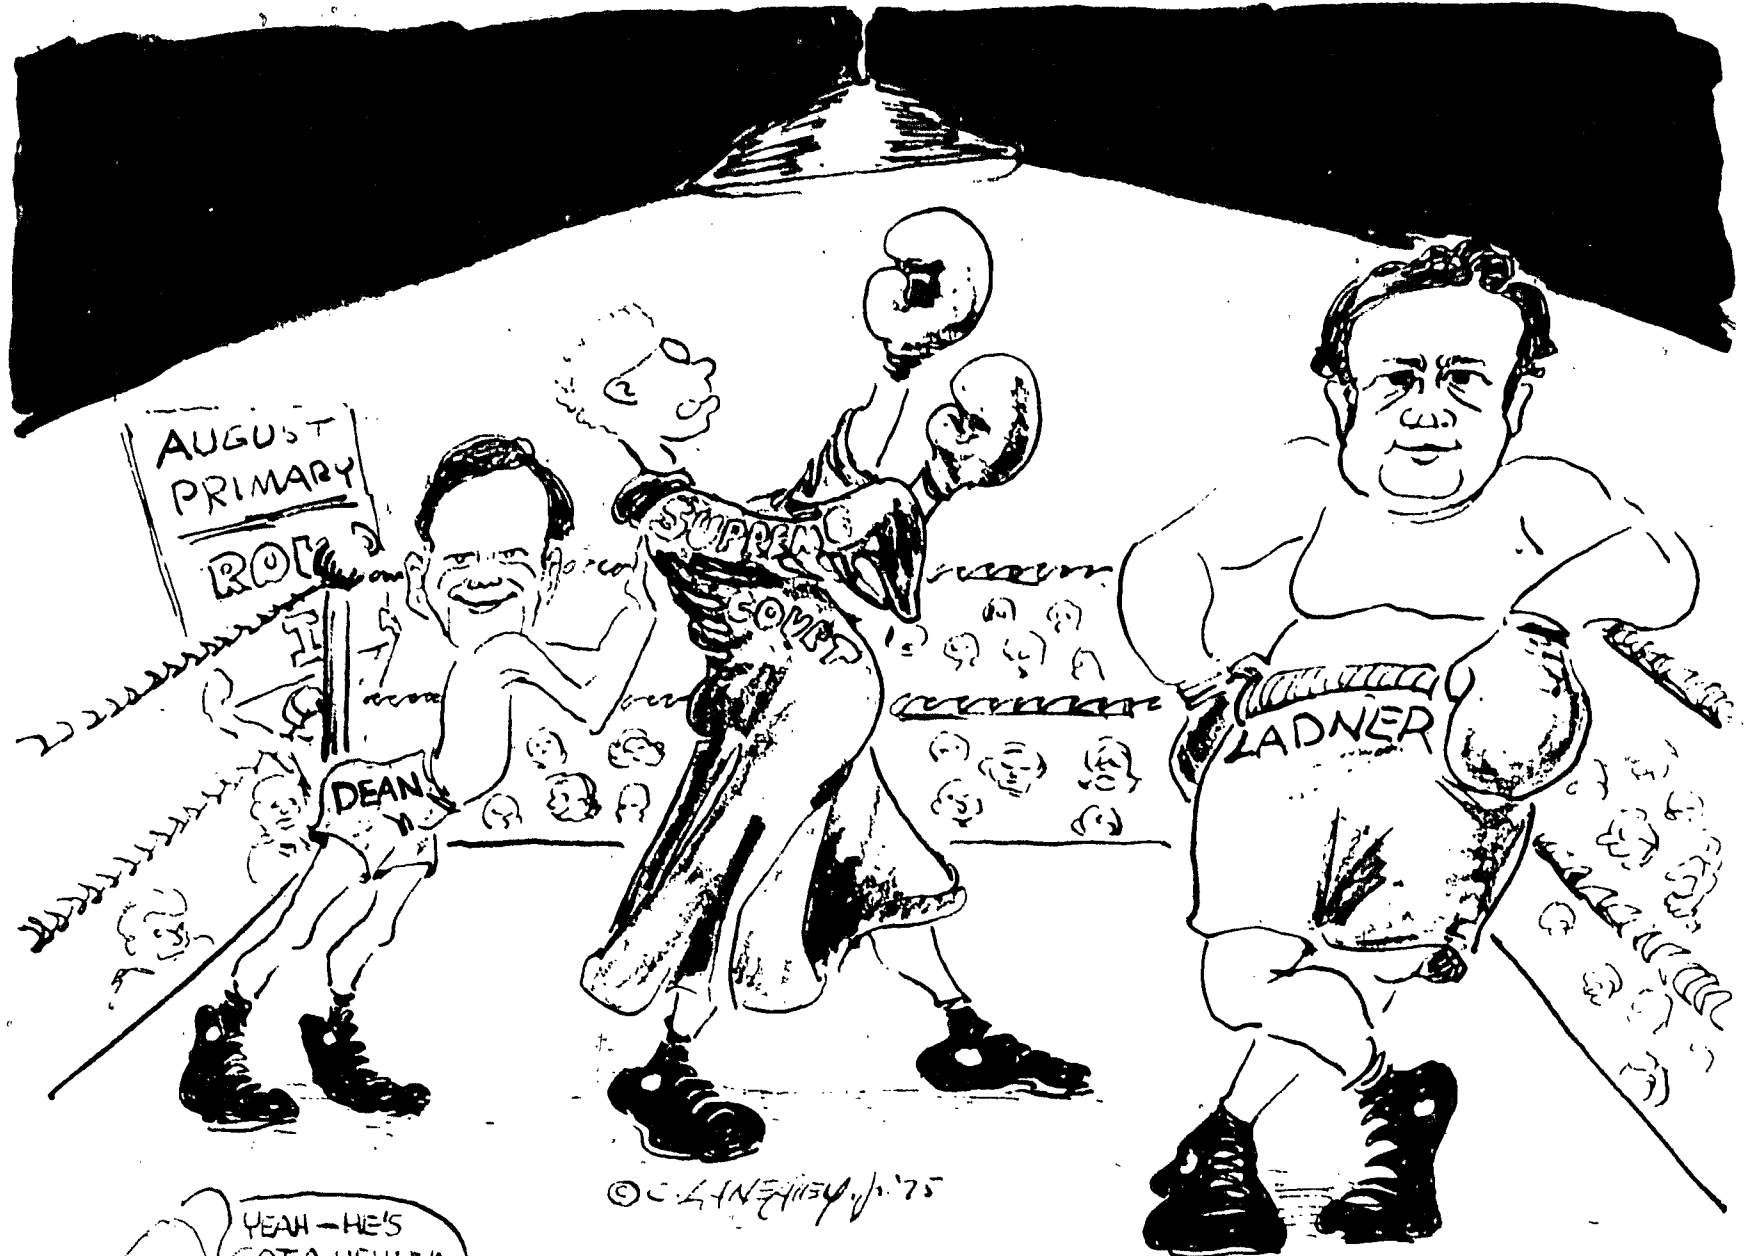

The vaccination is free. State and federal funds are financing the program in an effort to stamp out brucellosis or Bang's disease. The Mississippi goal this year is to have 300,000 heifers vaccinated this year.

PASTURE MANAGEMENT

You can increase the carrying capacity of your pastures by at least 50 percent by rotational grazing. The pasture should be heavily stocked - at least three head to the acre to insure even grazing. When the area is grazed down, usually 19 to 24 days, cattle should be moved to another area. After cattle have been moved, it is a good idea to pull a harrow or some other device through the pasture to spread manure piles. This will help provide the needed fertilizer for regrowth.

Don't wait too long to begin grazing sorghum-sudan type grasses. Begin grazing when the grass is 15 to 20 inches high. Cut for hay when it is 20 to 35 inches high. You get more tonnage when you let the grass get tall but you lose quality. Management to prevent seedhead formation will result in higher quality hay and grazing.

Watch out for the little guy!

Washington Report

STAYING IN TOUCH

If an elected official ever wants to know how his constituents feel about something, all he needs to do is stay in touch and listen.

In the last three weeks, for example, I've visited with constituents in Waynesboro, Long Beach, Purvis, Biloxi, Gulfport and Pascagoula. I even ran into people from the Fifth Congressional District at statewide conventions in Meridian and Tupelo. Along the way, I talked with everyone from the Ingalls Management Association at Pascagoula to senior citizens at Waynesboro and veterans groups at Biloxi. I tried to do as much listening as talking.

Invariably, right at the top of the list of constituent concerns is Social Security. Now there's a problem that touches the lives of everyone from welders to senior citizens.

While I introduced a Social Security reform bill earlier this year, I think it is becoming more and more obvious that a major overhaul of the Social Security System is the only answer. My bill would make a dent in the system, but what we need now is more than just a dent.

As I see it, we have several alternatives: (1) we could increase the present high Social Security tax rate; (2) we could further increase the taxable income base; (3) we could cut back benefits; (4) we could use general funds from the Treasury; or (5) we could create a new system to replace Social Security.

Obviously, some of those alternatives are completely out of the question. A new system, however, one that would take advantage of the new Pension Benefit Guarantee Corporation, is beginning to appeal to me.

Basically, this approach would terminate the Social Security tax and require employers to grant their workers a pay increase equal to the amount of the employer's Social Security tax liability. Then, every worker would be required to save 10 percent of his earnings in either government retirement bonds or in a PBGC-supervised private pension program.

It's just an idea at this stage, but I think it deserves serious consideration as we try to correct the glaring flaws in our present Social Security System.

One of the groups I always enjoy meeting with is the veterans. They're concerned about the need for a compensation increase, which is now in the Congress, and they're very adamant about returning Veterans Day to its original November 11 date, which is also in the Congress at this time.

I think the veterans were pleased to see VA Administrator Richard Roudebush last week at the Biloxi-Gulfport VA Center. Administrator Roudebush was very impressed with his visit and I'm hopeful that he will continue to respond to the needs of that very important VA Center.

Finally, on my last visit I had the opportunity to look at the new Gulf Coast Transportation Authority buses, which are running on regular scheduled up and down the Coast. I was very pleased to see the Transportation Authority working to help relieve one of the very serious problems in South Mississippi - transportation.

If we could only get I-10 finished, we would really be in business.

After all, I've enjoyed my recent trips to the district. Those kind of give-and-take sessions are what representative government is all about.

Ask the VA

Q - I'm a 66-year-old veteran unable to work. Can I qualify for a disability pension from the Veterans Administration?

A - Probably. Laws governing VA pensions consider veterans 65 years old and older totally disabled and eligible for pension if they fall within income limitations. Suggest you contact the agency.

Q - I was discharged recently from military service and I plan to go to school under the GI Bill. How long do I have to complete my schooling?

A - Under a recent law (PL 93-337, July 10, 1974) veterans are allowed 10 instead of eight years from date of separation to finish schooling.

Q - My husband was drawing compensation from the Veterans Administration for a 30 per cent disability when he died. Am I eligible for the agency's health care program, CHAMPVA?

A - If your husband died as a result of his service-connected disability and you're not eligible for the military's CHAMPUS program or medicare, you may be eligible for CHAMPVA. Check with the nearest VA hospital or clinic.

Q - When is the deadline for veterans to apply for medical treatment at Veterans Administration hospitals?

A - There is no deadline, but priority is given to veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Q - I lost my World War II National Service Life Insurance policy. How can I obtain a copy?

A - Request a copy from the Veterans Administration Insurance Center where you pay your premiums, either in Philadelphia or St. Paul, Minn. If you had a paid-up policy, direct your request to the VA Insurance Center in Philadelphia.

Q - I plan to move next month. How can I make sure the Veterans Administration sends my pension check to my new address?

A - Notify the VA regional office where your records are filed, giving your claim number and your old and new address. You also should notify your post office, but not the Treasury Department.

H.E.W. News

Social security monthly benefits will be increased by eight percent starting with the check due in early July according to Charles E. Wofford, district manager of the Gulfport office. He emphasized that the checks should be received on the regular date and will include the increased amounts for each person who is getting a check.

Mr. Wofford said those individuals who are receiving Supplemental Security Income payments will also receive the eight percent. These checks will be delivered on July 1 or shortly thereafter.

Social Security

A new movie about Medicare is available for programs of senior-citizens groups, civic clubs, and other organizations, according to Charles E. Wofford, manager of the Gulfport social security office.

The 29 minute color film is called "Medicare: how it helps you." It explains how Medicare hospital and medical insurance work, and it spells out in some detail what Medicare does and does not cover," Wofford said.

Organizations can arrange to have the film shown by social security representatives, who will also answer and discuss questions about Medicare. It was produced by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Arrangements for showing "Medicare: how it helps you" to a group or organization can be made by calling or writing the Gulfport social security office at 02015 Pass Road. The phone number is 1-896-1324.

Medicare helps pay the health care bills of people 65 and over, of disabled people who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and of many people with chronic kidney disease.

People planning to retire soon can estimate the amount of their monthly social security check with a free leaflet available at any social security office.

The leaflet—Estimating your social security retirement check—explains how much work people need to be eligible for social security benefits and shows them how to figure the approximate amount of the monthly retirement payments to them and their families.

Single copies of the leaflet are free on request at any social security office. The Gulfport social security office is at 02015 Pass Road. The phone number is 1-896-1324. The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Waller proclaims business week in Mississippi

Governor Bill Waller has proclaimed the week of July 13-19 as Small Business Week in Mississippi to recognize the role played by small businesses in the state economy.

Mississippi has become a national leader in programs of assistance to small businesses, according to Charles Allen, Special Projects Director of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board.

Allen said that since the Small Business Assistance Program started in 1972 at the urging of Governor Bill Waller, over $3.5 million in loans have been generated creating over 500 new jobs.

"In addition to the Small Loan Program," Allen said, "this administration is providing management and technical assistance through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise and we have received national acclaim for the Mississippi Economic Development Corporation, which uses a combination of private and public capital to assist Mississippi home-grown industries."

"The promotion and consumption of small and independent businesses are essential to the future growth and progress of Mississippi," Waller said.

The Governor issued the proclamation in conjunction with Mississippi Expo '75, a small business and minority trade fair to be held in Jackson next week.

Waller recently issued an Executive Order calling on state agencies to increase the number of contracts given Mississippi small businessmen.

OPEN HOUSE SCHEDULED AT MANSION

The Governor's Mansion will be open to the general public Saturday, July 19, for the first "open house" at the facility in the history of the state.

Governor Waller said that the Mansion will be open to designated times for residents of each county to visit. He said, "This has been done in an effort to cut down the amount of time any one would have to wait in order to tour the Mansion."

Waller said, "We feel that the Mansion truly belongs to all the people of our state, and we hope that all families will want to come and share in this important part of Mississippi's heritage."

Regularly scheduled tours of the Mansion, conducted by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, are expected to get underway later this summer.

GRANTS RECEIVED FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Horace Kerr, Director of the Mississippi Council on Aging, has announced approval of $655,015 in funds for programs for the elderly in Mississippi.

Kerr said that 15 grants for area Agencies on Aging, Nutrition Programs, and Information, Referral, Outreach, and Transportation program (IROT) activities were included in the funding.

He said the grants will be used to continue present program activities and to expand the nutrition program into 18 cities in the state where approximately 1,000 meals a day will be served to senior citizens.

Kerr said that nutrition sites will be open during the next few weeks in the following cities: Marks, Senatobia, Grenada, Kosciusko, Starkville, West Point, Biloxi, Laurel, Hattiesburg, Columbia, Picayune, Lumberton, Wiggins, Tupelo, Amory, Aberdeen, New Albany, and Oxford.

STATE RECEIVES APPALACHIAN GRANT

Governor Waller has announced that his office has received approval of a $100,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission to help fight unemployment in the 20-county Appalachian area of Northeast Mississippi.

The Governor said that the grant, to be administered by the Research and Development Center, will include technical assistance to business firms in the area.

"We hope this project will help us identify opportunities, as well as problems, for all sectors of the economy in this area," Waller said.

He said the study will be aimed at identifying the extent of the energy problem in the area and identifying feasible agricultural products and determining the best ways to market these products.

COORDINATOR DEFENDS REVENUE SHARING SPENDING

William M. Headrick, Coordinator of Federal-State Programs, has defended the management of Mississippi's revenue sharing funds as being "totally in the best interest of the people of our state," Headrick said, "I believe the record should be cleared, due to many erroneous statements made by Senator Bob Perry apparently in order to create false political issues for his campaign."

Headrick said the funds are managed by a Certified Public Accountant in consultation with bankers, economists, and investment managers from across the state.

"We use the same investment methods used by banks and other financial institutions in order to reap the greatest possible benefits from these funds," he said.

Headrick said that Perry is "misleading the public when he plays upon the hardships of the farmers and small businessmen regarding these funds. These funds have to be invested in short-term securities, and the banks cannot make long-term loans on these securities and still be able to redeem them at maturity."

JUSTICE OFFICE SPONSORS CRIME FORUM

The Mississippi Criminal Justice Standards Commission will sponsor a forum on crime in Meridian Thursday, July 10.

The Commission, appointed by Governor Waller in October of 1974, is seeking to "have public input into setting a definition on the necessary positive action to reduce crime and insure a safe and just Mississippi."

A spokesman for the Commission said that this will be the fourth public forum of this type to be held in Mississippi in a series of ten before completion. Other forums have been held in Columbus, Biloxi, and Gulfport with as many as 250 people turning out at the meetings to discuss problems in the criminal justice system. The Commission said that the forum will be held at the Holiday Inn-Northeast in Meridian and will be open to citizens from the following counties: Lauderdale, Clarke, Kemper, Newton, Neshoba, and Jasper.

Ingalls introduces new line

PASCAGOULA, MISS. - Senator John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, will be principal speaker at Ingalls Shipyard Saturday, July 12, when another in a series of new multi-mission destroyers for the U.S. Navy Fleet is christened.

The new ship, designated DD-969, will be named PETERSON in honor of the late Lt. Cmdr. Carl J. Peterson, a Bronze Star Medal winner who lost his life in combat in Vietnam.

Cmdr. Peterson's mother, Mrs. Carl A. Peterson, of Tuxedo Park, N.Y., will sponsor the ship and give it the traditional champagne christening. Cmdr. Peterson's sisters, Miss Miriam L. Peterson and Mrs. John F. Elliot, will also participate in the christening ceremonies.

The new destroyer is one of 30 spruance class destroyers being built by Ingalls for the Navy Fleet. Eight of the 563-foot long vessels have already been launched and the first has completed sea trials and is in the process of delivery to the Navy.

The ships of the DD-963 series are the largest destroyers ever built for the U.S. Navy. With full load displacement of 7800 tons, they are almost twice the size of the largest U.S. destroyers now afloat. They are designed primarily to detect and track enemy submarines, and they have the capability of being easily and quickly converted for additional missions, if needed, and continually through research and development.

They are the first major U.S. combat ships to be powered by gas turbine engines. The destroyers have four marine jet engines to propel the ships at speeds in excess of 30 knots. The gas turbines allow the ships to be started up and underway in minutes, compared to several hours for ships propelled by steam, and they have great acceleration. They are also lighter, burn cleaner, are more economical at high speeds, and require far less auxiliary equipment than steam engines.

Lt. Cmdr. Peterson, for whom the ship is named, is honored for his devotion to duty and courage under fire as commander of three River Patrol Boat divisions in Vietnam. He was killed in action in April, 1969.

In addition to Senator Stennis speakers at the christening ceremony will include Joseph T. McCullen, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Manpower and Reserve Affairs; Leonard Erb, Vice President of Litton Industries and President of Ingalls Shipbuilding, Rear Adm. W.C. Barnes, Commander Naval Ship Engineering Center and Capt. William E. McGarrah, Supervisor of Shipbuilding, Pascagoula.

Police are also investigating a hit-and-run accident which occurred at 2:40 p.m. July 2 when a car apparently backed into a 1972 Ford owned by James Wimbish of Bay St. Louis at the Valena C. Jones Center. Approximately $300 in damage was caused to the car.

Stennis announces completion of projects

Mississippi Senator John C. Stennis announced last week that renovation of the original Supreme Court Chamber of the Capitol's first floor has been completed and work on the old Senate Chamber is progressing rapidly, two projects which the senator sponsored this year.

"When the existence of these two chambers first came to my attention," Stennis said, "the Old Supreme Court Chamber was actually being used as a storage area. Although the Old Senate Chamber was being used as a Conference Committee room, it was in a rather dilapidated state. In my opinion, two of the most historic areas in our nation were being unwisely used and I immediately began taking steps to correct the situation."

Much of the history of the chambers had been filed away, Stennis said. In order to validate the authenticity of the two chambers, he enlisted the help of the Architect of the Capitol for an exhaustive program of research in 1960. Finally in 1964, funds were appropriated for the preparation of working drawings, specifications and estimates of cost for the restoration of the rooms to the condition in which they existed when last occupied. As Chairman of the Legislative Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Stennis was highly instrumental in obtaining the original restoration funds. His successor as Chairman, Senator Ernest F. Hollings (D-S.C.), continued the funding in subsequent years.

Recently the U.S. Senate Commission on Art and Antiquities conducted ceremonies marking the opening of the restored Old Supreme Court Chamber.

In expressing his pleasure over the restoration, Stennis said, "As we learned more of the history of these chambers, I became more and more convinced that to know what we know about them and not to proceed with the restoration, we would be ignoring our responsibility to the American people. If we failed to restore the chambers, we would fail in our duty to preserve the heritage of the Capitol."

"In these hectic days," Stennis continued, "we should never be in such a hurry to go forward that we cannot look back at where we have been. For only when we know where we have been can we chart a true course for the future."

The restored Chamber, located on the ground floor of the U.S. Capitol, served as the Supreme Court's meeting place from 1810 until 1860. It was the setting for many landmark constitutional decisions handed down while John Marshall and Roger B. Taney were Chief Justices of the United States.

Among the decisions handed down in the Old Supreme Court Chamber were those relating to the Dartmouth College and Dred Scott Cases, McCulloch v. Maryland, Gibbons v. Ogden, Cohens v. Virginia, Brown v. Maryland, and Ogden v. Saunders.

The room was designed for the Supreme Court by Benjamin Henry Latrobe, recognized as America's first professional architect-engineer. Dominating the architectural treatment is a bold vaulted ceiling, which was described by 19th century visitors as an "umbrella vault" or "half a pumpkin shell." Latrobe's biographer, Talbot Hamlin, wrote of the room, that "nowhere else perhaps did Latrobe achieve so perfectly that complete expression of the integration of form and structure for which he was always seeking."

Restoration of the Old Supreme Court Chamber reflects the period 1850-1860, when it was last used as a courtroom. The furniture arrangement is based upon mid-19th century descriptions and a floor-plan which appeared in Bohn's Handbook of Washington, 1854. Many original pieces associated with the 19th century Court have been placed in the room, including three Justices' desks, and numerous settees, tables and chairs.

Marble busts of the earliest

Chief Justices of the United States have been returned to their original locations in the room. The bust of John Jay (1789-1795) was executed in 1831 by John Frazee. Also represented are John Rutledge (1755), commissioned in 1858; Oliver Ellsworth (1796-1800), commissioned in 1834; and John Marshall (1801-1835), executed by Hiram Powers in 1836. In recognition of his service in this Chamber, a bust of Roger B. Taney by Augustus Saint-Gaudens, which had been placed in the post-1860 courtroom, is on view in the robing area. Facing the bench is the alto relief Justice, an allegorical group rendered in plaster by Italian Sculptor Carlo Franzoni in 1817.

The restored Supreme Court Chamber will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, except when used for ceremonial purposes.

Senators Mansfield and Hugh Scott serve as Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Commission on Art and Antiquities, under whose direction the room was returned to its mid-19th century appearance by the Architect of the Capitol, George M. White, and the Assistant Architect of the Capitol, Mario E. Campioli. The other members of the Commission on Art and Antiquities are: President pro tempore of the Senate, James O. Eastland, Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Administration, Senator Howard W. Cannon, and the Ranking minority member of the Committee on Rules and Administration, Senator Mark O. Hatfield. The Secretary of the Senate, Francis R. Valeo, is Executive Secretary of the Commission and James R. Ketchum serves as Curator.

REMEMBER BAYSIDE PARK ?

HERE ARE THE TRUE FACTS:

- ★ A $30,000 blacktopped main road
- ★ Over 50 percent of the roads are either shelled or gravelled
- ★ The remaining roads will be completed during the next term of Jerry Ladner.

Some misinformed people tried to make you believe that Jerry Ladner was against the people of Bayside Park Subdivision. THIS JUST ISN'T TRUE! What Jerry is against is a subdivision developer who does not abide by the established subdivision regulations of Hancock County.

It is obvious that the original developers of the huge Bayside Park subdivision did not live up to their responsibility to the property owners or to the Hancock County subdivision regulations. In fact, in 1967 the Board of Supervisors refused to accept the maintenance of the roads in Bayside Park subdivision. (Book A-5, page 359).

THE TRUE FACT OF THE MATTER IS THIS:

Jerry Ladner fought tooth and nail to force the private developers to bring the roads up to minimum specifications before the County accepted maintenance. This is no more than fair to the thousands of other taxpayers in the County.

The Board of Supervisors voted to accept the substandard roads in Bayside Park over my objections. Once this was done, the roads became my responsibility and I moved to correct the situation, which I still believe should have been done at the expense of the private developer.

Reflections

Mrs. Ola Bounds of Bay St. Louis submitted this picture taken in November of 1938 of her and her cousin Rosemary Blackwell of Detroit, Michigan at a picnic in Salem, Mississippi near Boley Creek. The girls are the granddaughters of Mrs. Jessie Blackwell of Picayune and the late J. P. Blackwell.

Mississippi Choctaws plan festival

The Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians is putting the finishing touches to its annual Choctaw Indian Fair according to Jimmie L. Gibson, the tribe's fair board chairman.

Gibson said this year is likely to be one of the biggest since the yearly event was begun in 1949.

The Choctaw Indian Fair will be held July 16-19 on the reservation in Pearl River, which is one of the seven Choctaw communities located in the great pine forests eight miles west of Philadelphia, Mississippi.

The Choctaw Fair Board has emphasized Choctaw and Indian culture in many of the planned daily activities.

Starting at 2:00 p.m. their daily events will include demonstrations of Choctaw traditions in sport, dress, customs, history and language, as well as exhibits detailing the Choctaws' road to self-determination. Basil Willis, one of the tribe's most knowledgeable experts in Choctaw culture, will direct the Choctaw Social Dancers and discuss the cultural meaning of various dances which have been taught from one generation to another. Layman Shumake, another tribal elder, will demonstrate the art of making and shooting blowguns, making stickball paraphernalia, and the craft and use of Choctaw "rabbit sticks." These evening events precede what very well may be the most bone crushing sport in America - Choctaw stickball. Daily entertainment will also include Red Sand, an all-Choctaw Rock Band.

National Indian leaders, as well as Mississippi political leaders, are expected to participate in the opening ceremonies with the newly elected Tribal Chief on the night of July 16. During that night the Choctaws will traditionally crown the new Choctaw Princess, who will reign for the coming year. The pageant will be emceed by Charlie Monk, Assistant Director of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers of Nashville. Randolph Mantooth (Seminole) of NBC's "Emergency" series will finish the pageant by crowning the Choctaw Princess.

Entertainment will be provided every night by the fast-rising all-Indian rock group Billy Thundercloud and the Chieftones with special added attractions Lamar Morris and the Morris Codes.

In addition to the nightly entertainment, a special Choctaw drama group will present a play entitled "I Am A Choctaw" Thursday and Saturday nights. The play, an all-Choctaw production, will highlight the history and culture, including the 1830 removal to Oklahoma, of the Choctaw Indians. In addition, the nationally recognized Choctaw Central High School Chorus will perform the traditional songs of their tribe and other American Indians.

Finally, Thursday night offers alligator wrestling by Jim Billie (Seminole) of Florida.

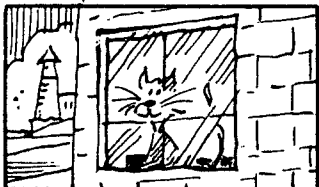

Friday and Saturday nights will have the Klaut Indian Family, an all-Indian group from the "Dakota Badlands" performing gospel. The Kiowa Plains Dancers from Oklahoma are also expected to perform in addition to the regular evening and nightly entertainment.

Saturday concludes the four-day event with the "Nashville Musicians Night" featuring many accomplished musicians who have recorded in that city. Saturday will also see the fair climaxed by the traditional World Stickball Championships.

"The Choctaw Fair represents an unusual opportunity for other Americans to see a growing, vibrant Indian culture East of the Mississippi River," said Gibson. "We expect an array of exhibits displaying not only Choctaw arts and crafts, but those of other participating tribes as well as those of many crafts people from Mississippi."

The year many photographers and film makers are expected to document the traditions and progress of the Choctaws. Film crews from as close as Education Television from Jackson are expected to have their cameras rolling for a documentary series while another film crew from London's BBC are also expected to attend.

In Maine they say if a cat looks out a window it is looking for rain.

Veterans advised of benefits

Veterans who plan to attend school for the first time under the G. I. Bill this fall must act promptly if they want advance payments of educational checks, said Chester Curvey, veteran's service officer for Hancock County.

The veteran should first contact the college counselor and determine what course he is going to take, and the number of credit or clock hours he will attend, Curvey said.

If either the veteran or the spouse have been married before, a copy of the divorce decree must be submitted before the spouse of the veteran will be recognized as a dependent.

All documents listed above can be obtained by the Service Officer, usually without charge, if the veteran will give the date and place of the events.

The veteran will be able to collect the advance pay if all the above is done at least 30 days in advance of enrollment. The first check will cover training allowances for the first two months or one month and a portion of a month, depending on the registration date. The check may be picked up at the school on date of registration.

Children of deceased veterans who are past their 18th birthday and who are unmarried and still in school may continue to draw pension on the deceased parent until they are 23 years of age. The spouse of the child must submit a V.A. Form 21-874 "Request For Approval of School Attendance" to continue receiving this allowance past their 18th birthday. If the child marries the allowance is stopped.

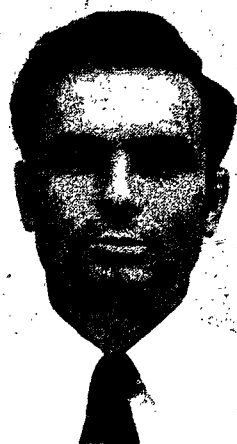

Widows and children of an honorably discharged veteran who died of a service connected disability or the dependents of a veteran who is permanently and totally disabled are eligible for educational benefits. Each child, wife or widow is entitled to educational assistance for 36 months. Educational assistance is available to children between the ages 18 and 28.

If there is a divorce between the veteran and spouse the educational allowance of the spouse is stopped. If the widow of a deceased veteran is remarried the benefits are terminated. Marriage of a child is not a bar to educational benefits.

In a case of the wife of a disabled veteran the termination date of educational benefits is November 30, 1978 or ten years from the date the VA determined the veteran to be totally and permanently disabled. The delimiting date for the widow of a deceased veteran is the same.

For further information on educational benefits and all other veterans benefits and problems, call the County Veterans Service Officer at 467-5404 or 5405 or 5406

Lila Ladner Taylor

Dear Friends:

I am a candidate for the office of Chancery Clerk, Hancock County.

I was born in Bay St. Louis on April 27, 1947 and am the daughter of Curtis and Elver Ladner of Bay St. Louis. My grandparents are Ora Ladner and Juanita Moran Ladner of Lakeshore and Asa LaFontaine and the late Victoria Necessaire LaFontaine of Bay St. Louis.

I am a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, Bay St. Louis, Class of 1965.

After completing high school, I became employed in the Chancery Clerk's office in August of 1965. During the course of the next eight and one-half years I gained experience in every phase of work concerning the duties of the Chancery Clerk's office.

In April of 1968, I was promoted to the position of Chief Deputy Clerk. I held this position until February of 1974. The Chief Deputy must be capable of assuming the supervisory and administrative responsibilities of the office during any absence of the Chancery Clerk. I have handled these responsibilities in a reliable, efficient, and courteous manner.

The many phone calls I received before announcing my candidacy, urging me to run, and the many subsequent to my announcement, pledging support to me, have been both encouraging and heart warming.

I will try to contact as many of you as I can personally. Should I not have the privilege of talking to you personally, please accept this message as my solicitation of your vote and support.

Let's put 16 years of experience back to work.

Walter J. Phillips is a graduate of Bay High School and The University of Mississippi. He holds both a BA and LLB degree.

Enlisting in the Army in 1943 as a private, he served as an enlisted man for almost two years. Assigned to Officer Candidate School, he was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant and served as a Rifle Platoon Leader in the European Theatre. Among other medals, he holds the Purple Heart and the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Mr. Phillips has practiced law in Bay St. Louis since 1947, and has sixteen years of legislative experience. He served Hancock County in the Legislature from 1952 to 1960; and from 1964 to 1972.

He has held the legislative positions of: Chairman of the Interstate Cooperation Committee, Chairman of Temperance Committee, Vice-Chairman Ways and Means Committee, Vice-Chairman Judiciary A Committee, member of Executive Committee - Research and Development Board, and Mississippi delegate to South-Eastern States Forest Fire Protection Compact Committee.

He was a member of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission and was instrumental in the creation of Buccaneer State Park.

He is a member of the American Bar Association, Mississippi Bar Association, The American Legion Post No. 139 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3953.

He is the father of seven children, Lars, 32, Carey, 25, Lisbet, 24, Terry, 23, Lynn, 21, Cort, 19, and Mike, 17.

Having served for 16 years as your representative, I am familiar with the complex procedures which are a day-to-day part of any legislative body - and I am fully qualified in the ways of effecting the kind of legislation that Hancock County will need for the next four years.

The following are only five of the many goals which should and can be achieved through the work of an experienced legislator.

I've been there - and with your help, and your continued support - I want to go back to work. There's still a lot to be done.

ONE: INTEREST FORGIVENESS
To work to obtain interest forgiveness of the Governor's Emergency Council loan for both Hancock County and the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. This can result in a savings of approximately $400,000.00 to the taxpayers.

TWO: GASOLINE TAXES
To work toward reducing gasoline taxes. At the present time our tax is higher than in any other coastal county. This can and should be lowered.

THREE: EDUCATION
To work toward an improved educational system, with particular emphasis on special education. Additionally, to bring teacher salaries to a level comparable at least with our neighboring states.

FOUR: REHABILITATION
To work for the improvement of penal and mental health institutions throughout the state, and toward the creation of more and finer facilities for juveniles and for the mentally retarded or handicapped.

FIVE: GOOD GOVERNMENT
To work for the improvement of all phases of state government. To support and encourage sound economic principles, and the types of spending that will in fact bring the greatest value in return to the taxpayer. And to work to improve the lines of communication between the legislature and the people.

Ramada or Holiday Inn and enjoy the air conditioning, fine food and comfortable beds," Mrs. Hawkyard explained.

The Hawkyards spent the fourth of July at Gaywood Campgrounds in Gulfport trying to dodge the rain and heat.

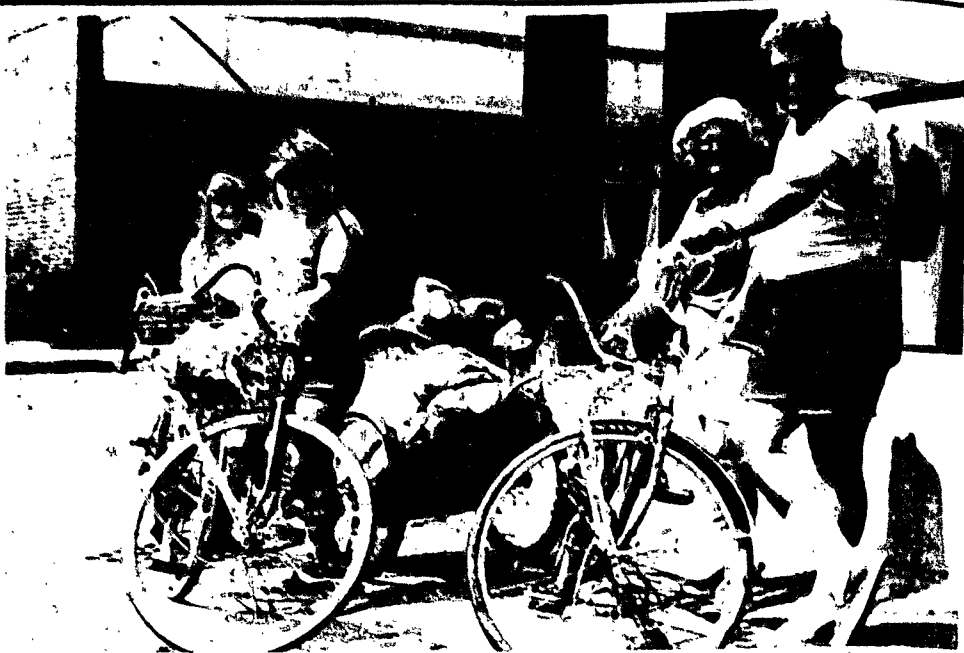

On Saturday the cyclists hoped to reach Pascagoula, and maybe even Mobile, Ala. "We don't really push ourselves but we try to ride 30 to 50 miles a day," Hawkyard said.

Food is not really enjoyed until the evening meal. "We can't ride well on a full stomach. We did it once last year and have learned the lesson that we must eat lightly until supper," Mrs. Hawkyard explained.

The only reason the Hawkyards could offer for undertaking such a hard task is that "we're crazy." After last year's excursion from Indiana to New York, the Hawkyards firmly stated "never again." But all agreed that since there were so many good times to remember from last year, "we had to do it again."

Richard and his wife have been able to devote summers to their avocation since both are teachers.

The family said they were considering a trip through Europe next year.

Traveling in style

The Richard Hawkyard family, of Riverside, Calif. have found that taking their vacation on bikes is great for beating the high cost of gas, but there's no shortage of energy when you pedal 2,500 miles to get where you're going. The family drove their car to Tyler Texas where they abandoned it for the bicycles for the remaining leg of their journey to the Florida panhandle.

Repayment proposal delayed

the present time the county could repay $140,000 of the loan, reducing the principal by that much. The state had previously demanded $165,000 in GEC money that was spent without state approval.

Travira said, however, that the $165,000 figure should be reduced by $62,500 because each of the five beats was allowed to spend $12,500 without state approval.

In other business the supervisors took under advisement two bids for work on a state-aid project, the Kiln-Fenton Road. Bids were accepted from Vicon Inc. of Metairie, La., $835,622.01, and Alabama Waterproofing Co., Inc. of Birmingham, Ala., $630,979.54.

A representative from the State Aid Road Division, B. Broome, suggested that the bids be taken under advisement because both were over the state's estimate of $572,000 for the work. Broome said the current balance in the fund could not handle the difference in price and he suggested that the bids be examined to see if any cuts could be made on the projects.

One suggested cut was in the area of erosion control at an estimated cost of $45,000.

McDonald & Sons for building materials to be used for constructing steps and a platform for the city's new pier at Ulman Ave. and the beach.

By agreement with the county board of supervisors, the city will furnish materials for the work with the supervisors providing the actual labor.

In another matter the city voted to renew a lease with Ed Larroux for use of approximately one acre of land owned by Larroux for a city park. The land is bounded by Julia and Dunbar Streets. The city has been investigating the possibility of purchasing the property for the city. Larroux is reportedly asking $12,000 for the property and buildings on the land.

Finally the city approved two resolutions, the first calling for continued support and funding for the Older Americans Areas Wide Model Project, and the second endorsing efforts by the Hancock supervisors in their efforts to seek federal funding for a family counseling service for the county.

Main entrance to the structure will face Highway 90, but a separate access will be located on Ulman Ave. to accommodate groups using the meeting room only. Wagner said the library would be built so that the main part of the library can be closed off from the meeting area if necessary.

Inside the building, sectionalized areas will reflect the patron's interest. Design calls for a children's area, a magazine and leisure area, a reference area, a local history and rare books room, an adult reading area, built-in checkout desk, public display centers, restrooms, librarian's office and work area, and employee and faculty lounge area.

Plans call for coordinating furniture and walls. The entire structure is designed so that the library can be expanded if necessary, according to library board president Linda Haas.

The structure, which is being built by contractor George P. Hopkins of Gulfport under bid of $259,800, is scheduled for completion 180 days from issuance of a work order. Estimated completion time is Jan. 15.

Complementing the library will be a staff of eight, including a new librarian, Mrs. Prima Wusnack. Working with Mrs. Wusnack will be Mrs. Alice Prindiville, who has served as coordinator for the library since 1969, and Mrs. Edith Humphreys, library assistant and former coordinator since 1965. The staff also includes Mrs. Mildred Means, who operates the Waveland branch two days a week, two bookmobile drivers, one summer employee and Mrs. Grace Rhodes, who performs general library work.

Facilities available in the new library will include two new electric book charging machines, a copy machine, a microfilm reader and printer, film projector and screen, talking machine for the blind, phonograph machines and records.

Tables, chairs, shelving, indexes, filing cabinets, and other equipment will all be purchased for the library at an additional cost of approximately $40,000.

One of the biggest assets of the new library was acquired last August however. It is a new 27 foot bookmobile acquired with revenue sharing funds by the county for $22,000. The bookmobile travels all over the county and has a capacity of 3,000 books.

"This is really the people's library," said Mrs. Haas about the new facility. "Everyone has done so much to make this happen, and we are so grateful to everyone who has worked for this. We hope that everyone will come out Sunday for our groundbreaking."

Other board members, who will be present Sunday, include William Tate III, Paul White Jr., Mrs. Fred McDonald, and Mrs. Louise C. Lynch.

Original trustees appointed in 1966 included Mrs. E. C. Samuel, president; Mrs. Robert L. Hamilton, Mrs. Gertrude Stanton, Mrs. William Hilliker, and Mrs. Lloyd B. Griffith.

A & I Board sets industrial show

The Mississippi Industrial Showcase has been scheduled for September 26-28 at the Mississippi Trade Mart and fairgrounds complex in Jackson as part of Industry Appreciation Week.

Communities are urged by the Agricultural and Industrial Board to use this opportunity to focus on the importance of their local industries. Climaxing the week will be Industrial Showcase '75 which will serve to acquaint the general public with the hundreds of Mississippi manufactured and produced goods.

All Mississippi manufacturers are invited to exhibit, either individually or in conjunction with chambers of commerce or municipalities. Industrial Showcase '75 is being sponsored by the Mississippi Marketing Council of the Agricultural and Industrial Board.

The state's first Industrial Showcase, held in 1971, generated over $1 million in additional business for Mississippi manufacturers, said an A & I spokesman. This success resulted in the construction of the Trade Mart to serve as a permanent facility to house the Showcase.

The Trade Mart's 43,000 square feet of exhibit space will be utilized for the statewide event along with the Coliseum and other fairground buildings.

Manufacturers are requested to contact their Mayor's office about exhibiting. Space assignment and arrangement will be made on a first come, first served basis. There is no entry fee, but each member is required to award a doorprize. For further information regarding Industrial Showcase '75 contact Gary Starkey, Showcase Coordinator, Mississippi Trade Mart, 1200 E. Mississippi St., Jackson, Ms. 39205, 354-7673.

Rev. Daniel Gallagher, associate pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father wore an empire style gown of candlelight voile. Mrs. John McKenna, organist, played the traditional wedding marches. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Kidd received guests wearing a floral print jersey dress and an orchid corsage. The mother of the groom chose a blue and white knit dress. A white orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

Humorist makes oral history presentation

JATTIESBURG, Miss. — Mississippi's folksy tale-teller Jerry Clower was on the University of Southern Mississippi campus June 26 to deposit his memoirs in the library archives as part of the University's oral history program.

The country humorist, who came to national prominence with four comedy albums that have grossed $4 million, put some three hours of his personal recollections on tape in an interview conducted by the USM oral history program.

The transcript of this interview was presented to Clower in a ceremony in the exhibition room of the library. Clower in turn deposited the transcript with the library. He also received a personal copy of the transcript and an enlarged reproduction of the reference card for his history that will be in the card catalogue in the library.

Dr. William D. McCain, who was then president of USM and is now president emeritus, explained at the ceremony that the purpose of the oral history program is "to fill the gap between history that is written and that which is not written and preserved in any way."

Memories of people who have participated in significant events in state history are recorded on cassettes and then transcribed for scholarly use.

Clower, who is a graduate of Mississippi State, expressed his appreciation that he has been chosen to participate in the program.

Several minutes of the three-hour interview were played for the crowd that had come to see Clower.

Born in Amite County,

Clower recalled on tape that he grew up in a house without electricity or running water — "but clean and comfortable, the best home possible under the circumstances," he said. "I was home on leave from the U. S. Navy at age 19 before there was an electric line ever run to the house. I passed high school studying by a coal oil lamp."

"I'd say my fondest memory of that time was to be working hard, scraping cotton, and have a rain come up. Then we'd sit on the porch and watch the rain and smell the biscuits cooking," he said.

Clower announced that he will co-star this fall in his own syndicated television program.

To be called "Nashville on the Road," the show will have Clower and Jim Ed Brown as co-stars. Fifty-two segments will be filmed throughout the nation — the first four at Six Flags Over Georgia.

"I'm glad about the show," Clower said. "It may fizzle, but it may be something as big as Hee Haw, which is the number one syndicated TV show today. So us country folks have come to town. Folks used to drive out through the country and laugh and say, 'Look at that country hick.' Well, they've stopped doing that. Country folks got as much money as city folks."

Asked whether the Ledbetter family, about whom he tells stories in his routine, really existed, Clower said, "The Ledbetter family is real. I changed the name for obvious reasons. In all of my stories the things that I tell are 99 and 44 one-hundredths per cent almost true."

Most of our customers, as they seek the comforts of air conditioning, use more electricity during the hot summer months than at any other time of the year. This increased usage will naturally be reflected in your monthly electric service bill.

Here's how to get maximum air conditioning efficiency:

1. Energy conservation: To help you save money on air conditioning and get the most efficient use of your electric service, set the thermostat at the highest comfortable temperature, usually about 78°.
2. Filters: Clean or change air conditioning filters at least once a month. Dirty filters make the unit work harder and cause higher operating costs.
3. Sunlight: Your air conditioning unit works extra hard to combat heat from direct sunlight. Awnings, shutters, and drapes over windows provide the best protection from sun's rays. Keep them drawn during the sunniest part of the day.
4. Nighttime: If unit has been off during a cool night, give it an early start the next morning before a new day's summer heat fills the house.
5. Air flow: Make certain that you have free passage of air to and from your unit both inside and outside your house.
6. Insulation: Adequate insulation will result in lower operating costs. Usually six inches in the ceiling and four inches in walls is suggested. Don't forget to weatherstrip windows and doors, too!

We appreciate your use of our service, and we want you to get the greatest possible value from your electric service dollar.

College plans museum expansion

Plans are currently underway at Mississippi College in Clinton to expand the existing history museum to provide more space for artifacts related to the nation's bicentennial.

The museum is located on the third floor of Nelson Hall on the campus and is directed by curator C. D. Galloway, assistant professor of history at the college.

The museum collection includes artifacts from different cultures, a representative sample of American historical objects, as well as items reflecting the formative years of the state of Mississippi and Mississippi College. The most noted section of the History Museum is the collection of arrowheads used by Mississippi Indians. Mounted on more than 30 plaques and displayed in several cases, this collection is one of the largest and best accumulations of arrowheads to be found in the state.

As the 1975-76 session approaches, Mississippi College will be commemorating the Sesquicentennial year of its existence in addition to the nation's Bicentennial.

The college hopes to be able to increase the existing collection of artifacts and open the museum on a regular schedule. Those who have items of historical significance to either the nation, state, or college and would like to contribute them to this collection are urged to contact Mr. C. D. Galloway at Mississippi College.

Gloria Swanson dedicates stars Hall of Fame

ORLANDO, Fla. — Actress Gloria Swanson, whose beauty, charm and talent have bridged three generations of movie-goers, joined a host of show business luminaries and dignitaries from across the nation here to dedicate the new $6-million Stars Hall of Fame as a shrine to the world of entertainment.

Joining Miss Swanson in the star-studded, Hollywood-style premiere and dedication of the attraction Saturday night were Glenn Ford and his fiancée, Cynthia Hayward, Cliff Robertson and his wife, actress Dina Merrill and popular quiz show moderator Tom Kennedy who was Master of Ceremonies. Robertson, Ford and Miss Swanson are enshrined in the Stars Hall of Fame in elaborate stage settings commemorating highlights from their film careers.

Two hundred stars of motion pictures, television and song are recreated on 100 different sets in Stars Hall of Fame, the newest attraction of Six Flags, Inc., largest amusement attractions operator in the United States.

More than 800 guests were on hand as Miss Swanson told them, "In our Dedication of the Stars Hall of Fame, the artists represented here honor it, too... they gave freely of themselves, their hearts, their passions and emotions to bring pleasure to all people of the world. They did so with a true and unsparring commitment to their craft.

"This building pays tribute to them and will keep the memory of their extraordinary contribution alive in human hearts for all time to come."

Following the dedication ceremony, Ford, Robertson and Miss Swanson toured Stars Hall of Fame and posed for photographers on their respective sets, "Teahouse of the August Moon," "PT-109" and "Sunset Boulevard".

Later, guests and stars had a lavish banquet in the Plaza of the Stars as searchlights stabbed the warm Florida night, punctuated by the sounds of aerial pyrotechnics, a 31-piece orchestra and the antics of costumed Keystone Kops.

The entire evening took on the glitter of a Hollywood premiere from its opening, when the stars stepped from their limousines and walked the plush red carpet through the throngs of applauding guests to the podium where they were introduced by Joseph F. Prevratil, Six Flags vice president.

Harvesting is vital phase of home vegetable gardening

MISSISSIPPI STATE — This is another in a series of articles designed to help the home gardener plan, plant and cultivate a successful "WIN" (Whip Inflation Now) vegetable garden.

One of the most important phases of home vegetable gardening is harvesting, says Dr. Milo Burnham, horticulturist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Picked-too-soon garden produce is tough or too tender and lacks substance or flavor. Picked too late, it is likely to be too tough, fibrous or squishy and again lacking in taste.

The number of days from planting to maturity is an average and will vary with the weather and variety. One way to determine picking time is by the appearance of plants. The following guide, says Dr. Burnham, will help you determine proper picking time according to plant appearance.

Beans, snap — best when the pods snap readily but the tips are still pliable.

• Beans, lima — pick when the pods are well-filled but still bright and fresh. End of the pod should feel spongy when squeezed.

• Cabbage — pick when heads are firm when squeezed, heavy for size and before splitting.

• Cantaloupe — ready when blossom end of fruit gives to pressure from finger and fruit separates (slips) readily from stem. Netting should be coarse, cordy, prominent and grayish, with no green lines showing.

• Corn — pick when silk turns dark and begins to shrivel. Kernels should be bright, plump and milky. If small and soft, they are tasteless. If large and hard, they are starchy and flavorless.

• Cucumber — best when moderate size, a good green color, firm and spines just beginning to soften. Past prime if large, dull, puffy and yellowing.

• Eggplant — ready when fruits half grown, just before color dulls.

• Okra — pick pods when two to four inches long. Tough when larger.

• Onions, bulb — pick when tops have died down.

• Peas, Southern — pick purple-hulled varieties when pod is 50 per cent purple or less. Fully purple pods are too old and dry. Pick tan-podded varieties when pods show hint of yellow. Pods should be green when shelled.

• Pepper — firm and a good, shining green in prime. Also good when allowed to become red. Pimiento should be fully red.

• Potato, sweet — when roots have reached a usable size. Certainly before frost or ground cools below 50 degrees.

• Squash, summer — pick when moderate-sized, good color and rind easily dented with thumbnail.

• Tomato — pick when color is good all over. Size is no indication of maturity. They will ripen off the vine, but vine-ripened are better.

• Watermelon — ripe when undersurface turns from white to cream-yellow.

If the view is ugly shutter it from sight

Sometimes the view from a window leaves much to be desired. Look at the kind of trouble it got Jimmy Stewart into in the film, "Rear Window." In some cases, what's outdoors may be no more visually exciting than a blank wall or a neighbor's weed-infested backyard. One way to avoid such "eyesores" is to design a window treatment that draws attention to itself rather than what lies beyond.

Built-in shelving to focus attention on your taste in books or bric-a-brac, for instance, could serve to banish the visual monotony of a room without a view. Or, to divert attention from the outdoors, you might install glass shelves in the window to display your favorite plants.

Another decorative solution with hardly any bother is to install movable wood shutters of ponderosa pine. Actually, the shutters are operating louvers, which blend with either casual or formal decor. They come in stock sizes and can be purchased at local lumber dealers or home centers.

Proper equipment needed when preserving fresh food

By canning your own fresh fruits and vegetables this summer, you will be able to save money and enjoy fresh foods year-round. "Proper food preservation equipment is a must," states Mrs. Ina Kimbrough, foods and nutrition specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. All home-canned foods, except jelly, should be processed. Processing is done in a boiling-water bath canner or a steam-pressure canner. The kind of canner you should use depends on the kind of food being canned.

For fruits, tomatoes, pickled foods, jams and preserves, use a boiling-water-bath canner. You can process these foods safely in boiling water.

For corn, beans and other common vegetables, except tomatoes, use a steam-pressure canner. To process these low-acid foods safely in a reasonable length of time, the temperature should be higher than that of boiling water. "The best way to get this temperature is to hold steam under pressure," advises Mrs. Kimbrough.

For safe operation of your canner, clean the pet-cock and safety-valve openings by drawing a string or narrow strip of cloth through them.

Food Center's Econo-pricing

At Food Center we've promised to pass on savings to you as soon as we got them — and we're keeping that promise with our new "Econo-Pricing"! Thanks to recent wholesale cost reductions (a trend, by the way, which we believe will continue) and increased efficiencies we've put to use, we've been able to reduce many, many prices on nationally advertised brands and Food Center's own brand.

What's more, Food Center's new econo-prices will stay low — day-in, day-out — anytime you come in to shop. Today, tomorrow and in the weeks to come — you can depend on savings with Food Center's "Econo-Pricing"! But prove it for yourself. Come in today and see with your own eyes at your neighborhood Food Center!

Hotheads in baseball

There have been several incidents this summer where coaches on area youth baseball teams have been an embarrassment to their players and the fans. Several of them make a habit of arguing with umpires, others are constantly protesting games, and some come up with immature and childish acts that have no place in the game.

For instance, one angered coach recently resorted to making obscene gestures on the field, apparently because he knew no other way of expressing himself. Still another coach this season removed his team from the field rather than have a certain umpire call the game.

Coaches like these should not be in charge of others since they cannot even restrain themselves. After all, one of the primary purposes of the game is to teach the youth to respect authority. A coach who shows disrespect on the field has failed in this, no matter how many games his team may win.

One possible remedy to the problem may be a rule which would require coaches to remain in the dugout unless they are going to the scorer's table to make a substitution. The players themselves can handle the job of coaching the runners on base.

This may sound like an extreme measure, but it may be the only remedy to the hothead situation.

If you're looking for a sizzling baseball pennant race, and you don't feel like waiting until September for the major leagues to provide one for you, then the place to be is the Tiger ball park in Bay St. Louis tonight at 7 p.m. when the two league leaders square off in what is shaping up to be the deciding game of the 1975 Senior Babe Ruth League season.

Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead (7-2) and the Pass Christian Steelers (7-3) have been battling each other for the league lead all season. The teams split their first two contests of the year with Bay St. Louis winning the first game 10-9 and the Pass taking the second 8-7.

In both those games, the Steelers jumped out to big leads only to have the Diamondhead nine come back to make them one-run contests.

The defending champion Long Beach Maroons (7-4), with one game left to play, still have a mathematical chance to tie the winner of tonight's game for the title.

Congratulations to the Gulf National Bank Cards who nailed down the first round championship in the Bay St. Louis Little League with an 11-7 playoff win last Wednesday at McDonald Park. The Cards were in control of the game from the start and had to stop a strong hitting Merchants Bank team.

The Merchants Bank Expos, however, have not given up and have now set their sights on the second round title and a revenge match against the Cards. The Expos cut the Cards' league lead to one game Monday night when they took the measure of the Hancock Bank Lions, 15-3.

Not much is left to say about the sad ending to the tragic match race run on Sunday between Foolish Pleasure and Ruffian. There is at least one bright side to the story—it shows that there is still hope for people when many become so concerned in the fate of a horse.

THIS WEEK'S QUIZ: What major league pitcher was famous for inventing the "Ephus ball", which was nothing more than a high lob to the plate that the big leaguers couldn't hit?

Answer to the last quiz: Walter Johnson of the old Washington Senators holds the record for the most shutouts thrown by a major league pitcher, 110. His record has stood longer than Babe Ruth's home run record of 714, and it appears to have good chances of standing a lot longer.

To illustrate how many shutouts Johnson has thrown, Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers fashioned only 40 blankings in his career, and Bob Gibson, who will retire this year after a long illustrious career with the St. Louis Cardinals, has thrown 56. The late Grover Cleveland Alexander is in second place in career shutouts with 88.

One for the cards

The Gulf National Bank Cards put its foot down and stamped out Merchants Bank's hopes for the first round championship when they bombed the Expos 11-7 in the first round playoff game last Wednesday in Bay St. Louis Little League action.

Racing tragedy viewed at Oak Downs

Special to the Echo
In between two races Sunday at Oak Downs a crowd gathered outside the door of Johnny Walters' trailer.

Some were sitting on the tailgate of a pickup truck. Others were standing on their tip-toes peering over someone's shoulder to get a better look.

The object of everyone's attention was a TV set. The commentators were talking about a great match race coming up between the unbeaten filly Ruffian and Foolish Pleasure, the Kentucky Derby winner and runner-up in both the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

As the two thoroughbreds paraded toward the starting gate, the conversation around the TV picked up.

"I'll take Ruffian even for $5," pite the barber was offering. He wasn't offering much since Ruffian was a 2-5 favorite.

"Give me 3-5 odds and you're on," responded one would-be bettor.

"I'll take Foolish Pleasure for even money if you give me daylight," said another.

The small side bets started building up. While the general public has not been exposed to very many match (head-tohead) races, this was the kind of action most often seen at Oak Downs. And the racegoers at the Pearl River track know how to wrangle for a match-race bet.

The start of the race was quick and Ruffian took a half-length lead during the first quarter of a mile. But the unexpected soon came as Ruffian abruptly stopped running after a half-mile and the race was over.

Later the filly would have to be destroyed because of broken bones in her right front ankle.

The crowd around the TV (quickly) dispersed, many too sick to watch the replay. They knew what had happened. They had seen it before.

Ruffian had "broke down." It was a sad moment for racing and the fans at Oak Downs joined millions who regretted the unfortunate incident.

"It was just fate," said one man who has been around horses all his life. "It was going to happen and no one knew it or could do anything about it."

The Oak Downs crowd soon was watching another race. It wasn't between Ruffian and Foolish Pleasure but it was a good close finish and that's what they enjoy the most.

Cards soar past Expos in playoff, 11-7

By DAVID PIERSON

The Gulf National Bank Cards scored in its first five innings and then held off a Merchants Bank comeback rally to down the Expos 11-7 in the Bay St. Louis Little League first round playoff game last Wednesday at McDonald Field.

The Cards and Expos had ties for the first round title with identical 7-3 records, necessitating the playoff game. The win gives the Cards the right to play the second round champion in a best two-of-three series. Presently, the Cards are leading the league in second round action.

Gulf National Bank jumped out to a big 6-0 lead in the third inning and extended that gap to 11-2 in the fifth before Merchants Bank got on track.

Jeff Kergosien of GNB led off the game by ripping a single up the middle, and after Neal Wilkerson walked, Kelly Geroux blasted a double high off the fence in right field to score both runs. Geroux later scored in the inning on an infield error.

The Cards added a pair of runs in the second after Mike Rogues singled and Greg Laneaux doubled. In the third, Rowe Crowder capitalized on two fielding errors and raced home with the sixth Cardinal run.

Mike Pendergrast of Merchants got the Expos back in the game in the bottom of the third when he lifted a two-run homer over the fence in left field. The shot, his first of the year, did not, however, stop the Cards' run-scoring machine which scored five more times in the next two innings.

With one swing of the bat,

Andrew Haas lifted the Expos' hopes in the bottom of the fifth inning with a three-run homer over the fence in left field. It was Haas' fifth homer of the season, which is the most hit by a little leaguer at McDonald Field since the fence was erected several years ago.

The Expos went on to load the bases in the inning with none out and appeared on the verge of a big inning when relief pitcher Kergosien settled down and got the Cards out of the inning, giving up one more run.

Mike Pendergrast of

Merchants Bank drove home the final run for the Expos with a double to left field in the seventh inning.

Pendergrast led all hitters with three hits and two RBI's. Kelly Geroux of GNB and Haas of the Expos both accounted for three runs-batted-in.

Geroux was the winning pitcher, going the first three innings before he was lifted in the fourth in favor of Kergosien. Haas picked up the loss for Merchants.

Welcome home

Mike Pendergrast of Merchants Bank is about to be congratulated after he hit a two-run home run in the second inning over the fence in left field in the first round playoff game against the Gulf National Bank Cards. Pendergrast's hit, however, was not enough as the Expos lost the game 11-7.

Local netter attends workshop

Local tennis star Liz Lagarde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lagarde of Bay St. Louis, is currently attending the second annual Southern Lawn Tennis Association tennis workshop July 7 to 12 in Memphis, Tennessee.

Miss Lagarde is one of five girls attending the workshop in the 14-and-under age bracket in the southern region which consists of nine states.

She won admission to the workshop at the Southern Junior Closed Tournament in Mobile, June 23-29. In her first match Miss Lagarde lost to the top-seeded girl from Tennessee, Julie Kosten, 6-3.

7-5. Miss Kosten was the seventh-seed in the south. She then went on to win against Carolina Hertle of Greensboro, North Carolina, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, but lost to Wendy Corey, the second-seeded girl in North Carolina, 6-1, 6-2.

SPORT TALK

By Charlie Henderson

Q. How come the Oakland Athletics are always fighting? Are they just a bunch of brawlers?

A. They can't be "just a bunch of brawlers" and still win all those world championships. Many insiders say the stars of the A's would be quiet, "nice guys" on another team. They credit Charlie Finley's unpredictable ways for keeping the team stirred up.

Q. Who was that girl who was the first woman to play in a men's varsity NCAA basketball game?

A. Reserve Cindy Meserve, a 5'8" forward, played less than two minutes for tiny Pratt Institute in a game against Baruch College in 1974.

Q. Settle a family bet. I say Reggie Jackson has never hit over .300. True or false?

A. Through 1974, Jackson had never hit over .300, either in the majors or minors. He still hits for high average, with power, and is a great runner and fielder. That combination is hard to beat.

Advance styling, efficient performance, and the kind of comfort American drivers are used to make an unbeatable combination in the great new Granada. Come in and see how we've put it all together.

The Babe Ruth Player of the Week

The Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Player of the Week is Kim Johnson of the Rotary Club who had a perfect night against the American Legion batting in three runs and getting two hits in his two plate appearances. He continued his timely hitting last Wednesday with a bases-loaded single against Hancock Supply. In that game, he scored two runs and drove in three more as Rotary kept its championship hopes alive with a 19-12 win.

Believed to be out for the season after he was involved in a motorcycle mishap that left him in a cast, Kim has performed well and will be counted on by the Terry Boyette-coached team in the race to make it to last ground on the Dixie Realty ball club.

Players receiving honorable mention this week are Kerry Geroux and Greg Hammer of American Legion, Kerry Carr and Gene Tarzetti of the Rotary Club, Dwayne LaFontaine and Johnny Korman of Coast Electric, Kevin McCaleb, Ricky Manier, and Walter Carter of Dixie Realty, and Huelet Parsons and Don Smith of Hancock Supply.

Chief Swanier scalps Red Rebels, 6-3

Aaron "Chief" Swanier lifted the Pass Christian Steelers to within one-half game of the league lead with a 6-3 scalping of the Harrison Central Red Rebels Sunday evening in Senior Babe Ruth League play. Swanier allowed just four hits as he went the distance on the mound for the Steelers, and he delivered the clinching blow with a two-cut, two-run single in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The Pass scored its first two runs of the game in the bottom of the first inning when the brother tandem of Mark and Perry Jenkins combined for a double and a two-run single. Harrison Central cut the lead to 2-1 in the top half of the second on a walk and a pair of singles. That was all the scoring until the late innings.

Mark Jenkins singled in the fifth with Parker Duplessis on second to help the Steelers to a 3-1 lead, but the Red Rebels rallied in the top of the sixth to tie the game when Jerry Knight doubled to left-center and Joe Ford singled him home. Ford raced home with the second run of the inning when the Steelers committed two errors on one play.

Then in the bottom of the sixth, the Steelers battled back with the three runs that were the margin of victory. Brent Jenkins, also a brother of the Mark and Perry tandem, drove home the first run of the inning when he lined a single to left, scoring Paul Stewart who had doubled and stole third. After Anthony Duhon reached on an error, Chief Swanier ripped a single to left-center that scored the fifth and sixth runs for the Steelers.

Swanier went the distance on the mound and was credited with the win. He breezed three batters and walked three. Willie Willis was the loser, allowing nine hits and three walks, as he fanned four.

Perry Jenkins and Mark Jenkins both gathered two hits for the winners, and Jerry Knight got a pair of singles for the losers. Both teams stranded five runners.

Timber Ridge, Hancock split

Timber Ridge and Hancock Bank split a twin bill Monday afternoon in the Pass Christian Junior Babe Ruth League with Timber Ridge winning the first game 7-6 in extra innings and the Bankers coming back to take the nightcap 5-3. The doubleheader split eliminated Hancock Bank from the league race and left Timber Ridge (7-4) with hopes for a share of the league lead.

The first game between the two teams, a completion of a suspended game that was halted in the sixth inning with the teams deadlocked 4-4, moved into extra innings when neither team could score in the seventh. Timber Ridge loaded the bases in the eighth on a single and two bases on balls, and Jimmy Stewart ripped a bases-loaded double, scoring two runs. Wally Zander raced home with the deciding run for Timber Ridge on a fielding error. Hancock Bank scored two unearned runs in the bottom of the inning before falling.

Kevin Gallagher of Timber Ridge and Jimmy Rafferty of Hancock Bank both collected two hits in the game. Rafferty drove in two runs for the losers.

John Ulrich was the winner, and Charles Laughton was tagged with the loss. Both pitchers went the distance on the mound.

Hancock Bank 013 000 02-6 63

Hancock Bank scored its runs in clusters with Aaron Barnes providing the key hit, a two-run single in the fourth, as Hancock Bank salvaged the second half of the Timber Ridge doubleheader 5-3.

John Ulrich allowed just three hits in the game but was tagged with the loss as his Timber Ridge defense committed three miscues behind him. Charlie Stewart was the winning pitcher.

Kevin Gallagher and Rodney Necaise both got two safeties in the game.

FOURTH OF JULY - Bay Waveland was a beehive of activity last Friday with lots of fun for everyone. The action began with the Junior Fishing Rodeo at 10 a.m. Even the fish cooperated and Judges Catfish Benvenuti and Stingaree Steele weighed in quite a few good size trout; redfish and flounder. Tony Trapani won the prize for the largest fish. Charlie Moss was the winner for the smallest fish.

The first Flying Scot race of the day was a CRAZY RIGGING RACE which saw the crews attempting to start, hindered by many adversities novel to yacht racing. Winner was Marc Eagan with Bubby Eagan and Ed Turnipseed crewing. In second place was Chris Stieffel with Jama Wade, Tracey Stieffel and Reed Green crewing. Third was Woody Stieffel with crew Corky Hadden and Mike Wilkinson. Fourth was Randy Santa Cruz with crew Gordon Boh and John Gordon.

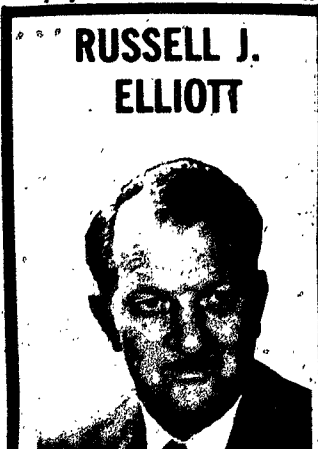

A great race for the spectators was the BACKWARDS SUNFISH RACE in which a record number of sixteen boats competed this year. In first place was Dennis Stieffel, followed by Rod Stieffel, Amy Chapman, Gigi Staehle, Chuck Breth, Aaron Adams, Chris Stieffel, Randy Santa Cruz, Walter Chamberlain, John Gordon, Frank Allen, Mimi and Lynne Eagan, Basil Kennedy, Gordon and Kathryn Boh, Harry Chapman, Edgar Santa Cruz and Ed Turnipseed. The RELAY RACE was sailed in Sunfish amid tremendous cheers and shouts of advice from the pier from team mates. The winners were Harry Chapman, Chris and Woody Stieffel, followed by Marc and Bubby Eagan and Ed Turnipseed, second; Dennis Stieffel, Edgar Santa Cruz and Gigi Staehle, third; Rod Stieffel, Randy Santa Cruz and Amy Chapman fourth; Walter Chamberlain, Weezy and Basil Kennedy, fifth; Bobby and Robert Killen and Cynthia Allen sixth; Frank Allen, Mimi and Mary Lynne Eagan seventh; Carroll, Evie and Charlotte Gordon eighth; Jack, Betty Ann and John Gordon ninth; Ray Stieffel, Charlie Staehle and Bill McCandless tenth; Grace and Elizabeth Santa Cruz and Ann Stieffel, eleventh; Kathryn and Anne Gordon and Sonny Wolfe twelfth.

The flying Scot ANCHOR RACE was won by Randy Santa Cruz with Elizabeth Santa Cruz, John and Charlotte Gordon as crew. Ed Turnipseed was second with Rod Stieffel and Jerry Boos crewing. Third was Chris Stieffel with crew Amy Chapman, Bishop Stieffel, Chris and Cary Trapani. Fourth was Woody Stieffel and crew Robert Killen, Frank and Tom Allen, Gus Gelpi and Matt Stieffel.

Harry Chapman defended his title of winner of the SUNFISH SIX-PACK RACE, closely followed by Billy Gordon, Charlie Staehle, Ray Stieffel, Walt Chamberlain. BAY BOURBON - KNOTS - Bay Waveland will hold eliminations in Flying Scots among the skipperettes to determine the Bay Bourbon winner and the Knot team. The preliminary flights will be sailed on July 17 and 18, with the finals scheduled for August 2.

RONDINELLA - The large, familiar Rondinella Wheel, originally dedicated to BWYC by Captain J. W. Clark for the GP-14 Championships, has once again been placed on active status. This year Bay-Waveland's largest one-design fleet, the Sunfish, will compete for this magnificent trophy and the club cham-

Braves facts

ATLANTA - Here are some miscellaneous facts that you may not know about your Atlanta Braves:

Braves starting pitcher Carl Morton always views the game from the stands with the fans the night before he is scheduled to pitch. "It builds me up for my game," he says. "The game looks so much easier when you're viewing it from the stands, and it builds up my confidence."

Darrell Evans was married to LaDonna Martin when the Braves had an off day on June 19. LaDonna, 23, is from West Virginia and she and Darrell had been dating for about a year. They didn't get much of a honeymoon, though. The Braves had four games in three days right after the ceremony.

teams in the Harrison-Hancock Recreation League, dominate the league's all-star team with 12 of the 17 players selected coming from the two front-runners.

The all-star team will compete next week in Pascagoula at the Slinging Rivers Park.

The players that have earned the all-star selection are as follows: Timmy Ladner, Gene Wahl, Kermit Dean, Ladaer, Kendall Cuevas, Paul Ladner, and Windy Cuevas (all of Donlin Electric); Mark Ladner, Allen Dedeaux, Danny Ladner, Byron Ladner, Barry Archmet, and Ricky Peterson (all of the Dedeaux Warriors); Mark Dubuisson of Dubuisson Recreation; Virgil Swanier and Mackey Dedeaux of the DeLisle Lucky Swingers; Willie Bowen of CNS Supply; and Ricky Waltman of the Hancock Farm Bureau.

Dixie Realty clinches tie for Bay Junior Babe Ruth crown

Dixie Realty eliminated the American Legion ball club Monday afternoon from the Junior Babe Ruth League race and now needs to win only one of their last two games to nail down the title.

The Coast Electric and Rotary teams, however, still with mathematical chances of tying for the crown, scored 20 and 19 runs respectively in their games to show that their bats are still alive in the championship chase.

Rotary ... 19

Hancock Supply ... 12
Gary Hutson collected a double, a triple, and six RBI's in leading the Rotary baseball team to a 19-12 win over Hancock Supply last Wednesday at Tiger Park.

Both of Hutson's hits came with the bases loaded and keyed big innings for the Rotary team. In the second inning trailing 3-0, Rotary loaded the bases on a hit batsman, a single, and a base on balls. After another walk forced in the first run for Rotary, Hutson emptied the bases with a double. Rotary went on to score three more runs in the inning.

In the fourth after Hancock pitching loaded the bases on walks, Hutson again cleaned up with a triple that brought the score to 10-5. Rotary went on to score seven more runs in the inning taking advantage of nine free passes.

Hutson was the winning pitcher, and J. Lewis was the loser.

Coast Electric ... 20
American Legion ... 18

Coast Electric's Dwayne LaFontaine scored five times, and the rest of the Electricians did just as well as they outscored the American Legion with something that resembled a football final, 20-18.

B. Barrett of Coast Electric got the only hit in the first inning for either team as the two teams walked across 13 runs. The American Legion scored all six of its runs in the first inning without the benefit of a hit, and Coast Electric used 11 walks and two hit batsmen to account for most of their scoring in the first inning.

Johnny Kersanac and Dwayne LaFontaine both collected two hits for the winners. No American Legion player got more than one hit. Greg Hammer hit a home run for the losers.

Dwayne LaFontaine collected two hits for the winners in the game, and was credited with the win. J. Lewis was tagged with the pitching
